Peking Loses U.N. Seat Bid

Vote Is 56-48;
20 Nations Abstain

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly voted Tuesday night to keep Communist China out for the 19th time, but six more nations changed their votes.

The 126-nation assembly rejected the proposal by a vote of 56 to 48 with 21 abstentions. The vote last year was 58 to 44 and 23 abstentions. The outcome this year was never in doubt.

Although, decisively defeated, Peking picked up four nations who swung from the abstention column to the yes column: Libya, Mauritius, Ghana and Nigeria.

Two other nations switched from no last year to abstentions: Italy and Belgium. Both are negotiating to establish diplomatic relations with Peking.

The closest vote was in 1965 when the result was 47 to 47 with 20 abstentions. However, this was a defeat because the assembly has voted every year that the question of China's representation is a substantive issue requiring a two-thirds majority for assembly action rather than a procedural issue requiring only a simple majority.

This year, the U.S.-backed resolution for the two-thirds rule received 71 votes in favor, 48 against and abstentions.

Seventeen Communist or non-aligned nations sponsored the resolution to seat Peking. The Soviet Union was not a sponsor and for the first time did not even speak on behalf of Red China. India, a longtime supporter, also kept silent.

Since Moscow became embroiled in its bitter power struggle with Peking, Soviet support has been growing more perfunctory each year.

It was the mildest debate since the question first came up in 1950. Most of the speakers opposing Peking omitted the usual polemics and dwelt mainly on the issue: How to admit one Chinese government without throwing out the other.

Police Probe Bombing Links In New York

Unfounded Calls Pour In After Triple Blasts

NEW YORK (AP) — Police are checking possible links between Tuesday's explosions at three Manhattan office buildings and earlier blasts, including an attack last month on the Armed Forces Induction Center.

More than 100 telephoned warnings of imminent bombings were received by police Tuesday, all of them unfounded. The explosive devices used Tuesday at the RCA Building, the Chase Manhattan Building and the General Motors Building were "high-order explosives on the nature of dynamite connected to a timing mechanism," a police spokesman said.

Similar devices were used at the Whitehall Street induction center Oct. 7, the Federal Building in Foley Square Sept. 19 the

Say Smallpox Vaccinations Unnecessary

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two researchers from the National Communicable Disease Center recommended today that routine childhood smallpox vaccination be discontinued.

The benefits, they declared, no longer outweigh the risks. The recommendation came from Dr. J. Michael Lane, chief of the domestic branch of the center's smallpox eradication program, and Dr. J. D. Millar, director of the program, in a report to a meeting of the American Public Health Association.

The recommendation does not represent the official viewpoint of the Communicable Disease Center. The center, in Atlanta, Ga., is part of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A similar report from Drs. Lane and Millar is to appear in the Nov. 27 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. Along with rebuttal from Dr. Samuel L. Katz, chairman of the pediatric department at Duke University, and Dr. Saul J. Krugman, New York University pediatrician.

Dr. Katz was quoted in the latest issue of Medical World News, a weekly journal for physicians, as saying he feels that reactions to smallpox vaccine, which cause seven to eight deaths a year, are no justification for stopping mass vaccination.

Amateur Geologists Are Given Award

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Three amateur geologists who recently made the longest rock-hunting expedition in history—to the moon—have been awarded honorary fellowships in the Geological Society of America.

Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong accepted the honor Tuesday on behalf of himself and fellow Apollo 11 travelers Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins.

well-known baby doctor and outspoken war critic, Benjamin Spock.

Only Light Scattered Action Reported In Vietnam War

SAIGON (AP) — Small scattered actions were reported in South Vietnam today, with 69 enemy, three Americans and one South Vietnamese militiaman killed in clashes in the northern provinces and along Saigon's outer defenses. Thirteen Americans were wounded and two were missing.

Along the central coast near Qui Nhon, a plane with eight South Korean officers on an inspection tour crashed, killing all aboard. Three of the officers were colonels who were promoted posthumously to brigadier general. Bad weather was blamed for the crash.

Fighting was reported on three sides of Saigon but the closest encounter was 23 miles from the city.

U.S. 9th Division infantrymen killed 10 Viet Cong in one firefight 28 miles southwest of the capital, and there were no U.S. casualties.

South Vietnamese militiamen killed 15 enemy soldiers and captured three assault rifles and two grenade launchers in a skirmish 31 miles northwest of Saigon. One militiaman was killed.

American Rangers clashed briefly with enemy soldiers 40 miles northeast of Saigon, killing five. One Ranger was killed and one wounded.

The U.S. Marines reported 25 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese slain in two skirmishes in the northern provinces south of Da Nang. Two Leathernecks were wounded.

Three miles south of the demilitarized zone, infantrymen of the 5th Mechanized Division's 1st Brigade reinforced by armored personnel carriers battled North Vietnamese regulars for 12 hours before the North Vietnamese pulled back, leaving 11 bodies and three field pieces. American losses were two killed and 10 wounded.

U.S. headquarters reported 11 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night, but said only five caused casualties.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 10 civilians, eight soldiers and one policeman were wounded in mortar barrages fired into My Tho, the chief city in the Mekong Delta 34 miles southwest of Saigon, and into a hamlet 55 miles northeast of Saigon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space hero John H. Glenn Jr., who aborted one run for the U.S. Senate from Ohio, has indicated he's on the verge of launching a second attempt.

Former astronaut Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, spent Tuesday in Washington conferring with political advisers, Democratic National Chairman Sen. Fred Harris and other party officials.

"We've been looking into this for some time," said Glenn after the day's conferences, "and if things keep looking as favorable as they have, hopefully we'll have an announcement in the near future."

The seriousness of his intentions were underlined by his leaving New York, where he has been associated with Royal Crown Cola, and moving to Columbus.

He declined to confirm or deny reports he has resigned at Royal Crown. "We've had some changes in my status at Royal Crown," he said, adding he'll leave the formal announcement up to the firm.

Glenn, who made his earth orbit in 1962, ran against Sen. Stephen M. Young in the 1964 Democratic primary but dropped out after receiving head injuries in a bathtub fall.

Young left the field wide open last month by announcing that he considers himself, at 80, to be too old for another term.

Glenn, 48, listed the organization and financial support he has found as favorable factors in his pending decision.

Glenn had declined to set any timetable for a final decision on a formal announcement.

Although his space duties and present job have kept Glenn out of Ohio for the past several years, he has retained his voting residence in New Concord, Ohio.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An apparent failure in a hydrogen tank on Apollo 12 was discovered today and threatened to delay Friday's launch of the moonbound spacecraft.

The problem was a failure in a vacuum holding area in one of the two spacecraft liquid hydrogen tanks. It was noticed while crews were loading the hydrogen this morning.

"Project officials are investigating to determine the extent of the difficulty and possible effect on Apollo 12 launch operation," the space agency said.

Liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen are used to provide gases for operation of the spacecraft fuel cells, which produce electricity. The two tanks, located in the service module, each are loaded with about 28 pounds of liquid hydrogen.

Crews immediately began draining off the hydrogen and prepared for experts to examine the tanks.

The space agency statement said there was "an apparent failure in vacuum holding characteristics," indicating a possible leak in the system.

Leaks and other problems have cropped up in prelaunch operations on earlier Apollo flights and were corrected in time to meet the launch time.

Until the malfunction was discovered, preparations for the launch had been going smoothly.

Chilean Jetliner Hijacked To Cuba

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A Chilean jetliner with 63 persons reported aboard was hijacked today while on a domestic flight and ordered to fly to Cuba, a spokesman for the airline LAN reported.

He said the twin-engine Caravelle was taken over shortly after taking off on a flight to the Chilean south.

The spokesman added that the plane under orders of the hijacker or hijackers headed for Antofagasta in Chile and Lima, Peru, possibly for refueling.

The spokesman said he had no further details.

Not Expected To Affect Job Immediately

NEW DELHI (AP) — The "old guard" majority in the top leadership of India's badly split ruling Congress party expelled Prime Minister Indira Gandhi from the party today and ordered Congress members of Parliament to elect a new prime minister.

The party's top policy-making body, the Congress Working Committee, took the unprecedented step against Mrs. Gandhi. She was accused of "spreading indiscipline" in the 84-year-old organization.

The action was not expected to affect Mrs. Gandhi's position as prime minister immediately. Her supporters in the party had announced previously they would not recognize any expulsion orders issued by the party president, Siddhavanthi Nijalingappa, whom Mrs. Gandhi has been trying to oust.

A meeting of all Congress members in Parliament is to be held Thursday. It was called in advance of today's action. Mrs. Gandhi was expected to seek a fresh vote of confidence then.

Her supporters claim she has an overwhelming majority among the 431 Congress members in Parliament.

A more serious test is expected after Parliament begins its winter session on Nov. 18. Then Mrs. Gandhi is certain to lose most or all of her 23-seat majority over the opposition parties because of the split in her own party. This will force her to rely on leftist, Communist and independent members to keep her government in office.

The prime minister was giving a luncheon for visiting Hungarian President Pal Losonczi when the expulsion decision was taken, and she was not immediately available for comment.

The Congress Working Committee issued a communique after a three-hour meeting saying the committee was "regretfully obliged" to expel her from the party because she had set up a rival working committee and a rival All-India Congress Committee, which is composed of some 700 delegates from all of the 17 states.

The expulsion was voted by only 11 of the 21 members of the working committee. Mrs. Gandhi and her supporters have boycotted the past three meetings of the committee to protest the party president's dismissal of three of her faction from the group.

The Congress party of Mohandas K. Gandhi and Mrs. Gandhi's father, Jawaharlal Nehru, was the spearhead of the Indian independence movement and has dominated the nation's politics since independence in 1947.

Roundtown

THE water department is at it again . . . Thursday evening from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. the water will be off south of Main St. and west of Court St. . .

Main St. will be off from Pickaway St. west . . . This will allow the city to install five additional valves and the Corwin St. fire hydrant that is leaking so badly.

The local weather observer has again predicted winter precipitation for the Roundtown area in the form of snow flurries tonight and Thursday . . . That, along with a high temperature of a chilly 40 degrees on Thursday, may be the onset of winter.

NOTICEABLE improvement . . . Earlier this week the city service crew cleaned the east-west alley between Main and Pinckney Sts. . . Downtown alleys have long been an eyesore, perhaps a new trend is underway . . .

Queen Elizabeth Ordered Closed

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla. (AP) — The retired liner Queen Elizabeth, now a tourist attraction, has been labeled a fire hazard and closed to the public.

Hollywood Fire Chief John Gerkin said the liner could not be reopened until the owners observe stricter safety standards, and then only for guided tours.

Edward Moldt, project supervisor of Queen Limited, owner of the vessel, said his firm had complied with all fire regulations and that he did not understand why the ship had been shut down.

Tax Evaluation Is Complete For Pickaway County

When the 1969 real estate tax statements are mailed to Pickaway County landowners, the statements will reflect the reappraisal of property which has been completed.

In most instances, land values have been increased.

The reevaluation of real estate was done by the firm of Cole, Layer and Trumble of Columbus in compliance with state statute which requires that it be done every six years.

County Auditor Marvene Rhoades and County Treasurer Robert Woods say a recent Supreme Court decision may require annual reevaluation of real estate for tax purposes.

THE total evaluation of land and buildings in Pickaway County is now $88,231,700, compared to $72,701,460 of the 1963 evaluation.

Because of the new evaluation, income has increased enough in Westfall, Teays Valley and Logan Elm School Districts to warrant a reduction in millage. Mrs. Rhoades stated, Westfall's total was reduced seven-tenths of a mill.

Logan Elm and Teays Valley taxes were reduced four tenths of a mill. The reevaluation did not increase income enough in Circleville City School District for a tax cut.

In compiling the new values, average land costs in the county ranged from $177 per acre in the village of Tarlton to $500 per acre in Circleville. This is for vacant land and does not include the value of any buildings.

The land values were based on the sales ratios for property transferred during 1968.

Real estate owners who believe their reevaluation figure is too high may appeal to the county auditor. If an error in computing the value for tax purposes has been made, it can be corrected.

If there is no computation error, the landowner then has the right to go before the board of tax appeals seeking a reduction.

Three Injured; One Arrested In Accidents

Three people were treated at Berger Hospital for injuries in a two-car accident and another man arrested in a single car accident on local roads.

A one car accident Monday at 4:40 p.m. on County Road 511 near the Circleville - Groveport Road resulted in the drivers arrest.

Michael R. Young, 18, 445 N. Pickaway St., told Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn he pulled out of the south drive at Prairie Lanes onto 511.

Young said he lost control of the car and traveled 246 feet before striking a telephone pole. The pole was broken off by the impact.

Young suffered a bruised hip and was referred to his doctor.

Kuhn cited Young for reckless operation of a vehicle.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated an injury accident Tuesday at 6:50 p.m. on Route 23 near the Circleville-Tarlton Road.

Ricardo R. Carpenter, 21, of Chillicothe, told Deputy Bob Hoover he was northbound on 23, slow, down and put on his turn signal, to turn into a filling station, when a car driven by George C. Porter, 62, 719 S. Court St., Circleville, struck his car in the rear.

Porter said he saw the red tail lights, applied the brakes but failed to stop in time.

Carpenter suffered a neck injury, Porter a lacerated tongue and Doyle W. Johnson, 21, Chillicothe, a passenger in the Carpenter car, a neck injury.

All were treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Two Cases Heard In Common Pleas

Stanley Friar appeared before Judge William Ammer in Common Pleas Court Monday for breaking and entering, grand larceny and malicious destruction.

Friar was one of the Columbus trio charged with the Teays Valley High School burglary. He waived his rights to a grand jury trial and was placed on three years probation.

Also appearing before the judge was Gary Hicks. Hicks had recently been released from Lima State hospital following 30 days observation.

He was cited for malicious destruction of property and released on his own bond to appear before the grand jury. He has been admitted to the Columbus State Hospital by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Hit Musical Set To Open At Cliftona

Widely acclaimed as the big smash movie hit of the year, Universal's lavish musical, "Sweet Charity," comes to the Cliftona Theater Thursday for a limited engagement.

The color hit musical stars Shirley MacLaine and co-stars Ricardo Montalban, Sammy Davis Jr., Chita Rivera, Paula Kelly and Stubby Kaye.

Thirteen big musical numbers, all as performed on Broadway, contribute to making "Sweet Charity" top family film fare.

It is the story of Miss MacLaine who as Charity Hope Valentine, a New York taxi-dancer, illustrates her character by wearing a heart tattooed in red on her left arm. Her adventures and misadventures are told in a fun-filled colorful spectacle.

There will be no increase in prices for the "G" rated film — for the entire family.

Beginning today, the Cliftona will feature a Country and Western program on Wednesdays. The program will include a feature length movie, a stage presentation and a cash award every week.

The Pickaway County project will also include enlarging the parking area and installing modern sanitary facilities. Completion is set for Oct. 31, 1970.

Logan Elm High Honors Its Deceased War Heroes

FOR JAMES HOOVER — Mrs. Ben Hoover, mother of Logan Elm graduate Spec. 4 James Hoover, who was killed in Vietnam November, 1965, plants the tree dedicated to the memory of her son at Logan Elm High School. Participating in the ceremony were Dow West, principal; Doyle Wiggins and Major Paul Pusey, who delivered the principal address.

Students at Logan Elm High School Tuesday dedicated two living memorials to James Hoover and Michael Spangler, the school's two graduates who gave their lives for their country, fighting in Vietnam.

Two crimson maple trees were planted in front of the school with appropriate bronze plaques at their bases.

Mrs. Ben Hoover, mother of Jim Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spangler, the parents of Mike Spangler, participated in the ceremonies. The principal speaker was Maj. Paul M. Pusey, an army chaplain who served in Vietnam.

Hoover was the first Logan Elm grad to die in the service of his country. He received the Silver Star posthumously for bravery in the field the day he died.

ON Nov. 1, 1965, he distinguished himself as a member of a rifle platoon during a reconnaissance mission in a Viet Cong location.

Sgt. Hoover's platoon was in heavy action all afternoon, repulsing two company sized attacks. During the course of withdrawal, Sgt. Hoover was severely wounded.

Although wounded, Hoover moved forward under a barrage of heavy fire in an effort to evacuate a wounded comrade. His efforts saved the lives of the evacuated comrades.

Sgt. Spangler received numerous awards including the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart, the Good Conduct medal, the Combat Infantry Badge, the National Defense Medal, the Vietnam Campaign Ribbon, the Vietnam Service Medal, the Parachutist Badge and the Expert Badge for proficiency with various weapons.

The Bronze Star was awarded to Spangler for meritorious service in Vietnam. He was twice wounded, returning to the field after he had recovered from his initial wounds.

Major Pusey was a former resident of the Logan Elm School District.

IN his opening remarks to the Logan Elm student body, he stated the purpose for the dedication was twofold — first to give honor and tribute to Hoover and Spangler and secondly to pay tribute to the 27 million American veterans who have responded to the nation's call to military duty.

"While serving in South Vietnam myself, I'm sure I have met men just like Jim Hoover and Mike Spangler... in the chopper... on the roads... in the jungles... with tanks, artillery and guns. While wounded and dying, I have stood by their sides and offered prayers," the Major said.

"I have seen them laugh, joke, pray and cry. It is significant that in all the misery that war brings to men, I have never encountered even one soldier who complained about the sacrifices that he was making for the cause of freedom in Southeast Asia.

"Again I say, our true respect and honor can be given to Jim Hoover and Mike Spangler and to the nearly 40,000 others who made the supreme sacrifice in South Vietnam by having faith in the ideals for which they died.

"As we each give honor and tribute to Jim Hoover and Mike Spangler, let us not forget that these men died that we might enjoy a lifetime of freedom they were denied in their youth. Their dying for us means that we have the responsibility to take up the torch of freedom and to help bring to a full realization our unfulfilled democratic dream."

The dedication program was planned by the Logan Elm Student Council. The planning committee consisted of Wanda Dunkle, Karen Kerns and Dan Ankrom. Assisting them were Roger Evans, president of the student council; Mrs. Robert Mills, student council adviser; Dow West, Logan Elm principal; Marvin Hartman and Mrs. Don Miller Sr., residents of the school district.

FOR MICHAEL SPANGLER — Mrs. Albert Spangler, mother of Michael Spangler, killed this year in Vietnam while serving his country, plants the tree dedicated to her son. A special Veterans Day observance was held at Logan Elm High School Tuesday.

Date Set For Dedication Of New Orient Post Office

Orient's new post office will be dedicated at 2 p.m. Nov. 23, Postmaster Robert G. Prindle announced today.

The new facility, located at 7820 Stahl Road, is part of the Post Office Department's lease construction program, the local postmaster explained.

Under this program, investment financing is used to obtain needed facilities which remain under private ownership, pay local taxes to this community, and are leased to the Federal Government.

This gives the Department some flexibility in adapting its building program to changes in mail volume, transportation and population, Postmaster Prindle said. At the same time, the need for large outlays of money from the Federal Treasury for construction purposes is eliminated.

The Department is now concentrating on constructing new postal units only where they are most urgently needed. In areas where it is practical to do so, existing buildings are undergoing renovation.

"The fact that Orient has been chosen for a new post office," Postmaster Prindle said, "reflects credit on our growing contribution to the economy and life of the Nation."

The postmaster announced that among the guests expected to attend the local Postal Dedication are Chalmers P. Wylie, Congressman, 15th District, and Ed Cain, Postal Service Officer.

"Our patrons will find doing business here more pleasant. Their mail will be handled more efficiently and this building with its up-to-date equipment will enable our Postal Employees to work under the best of conditions, the Postmaster commented.

"The new facility," he added, "will be a link with a postal system that today has over 44,000 postal installations. This system serves more than 200 million Americans and handles nearly half of the world's mail. Our nearly 740,000 postal employees are handling over 82 billion pieces of mail a year, including a billion parcels," the Postmaster added.

"Mail business in this area has gone up," the Postmaster

Y Schedules Swim Party

Friday evening the Pickaway Plains Indian Guides will sponsor a swim at the Chillicothe YMCA.

According to Longhouse Chief, Anthony Contino, the swim will start at 6 p.m. and end at 7 p.m. Tribe chiefs, he said, should contact the YMCA Friday afternoon on number attending from their tribes.

In addition to the swim, Contino said that the Longhouse will sponsor a hockey game trip on Dec. 5 for all Longhouse Braves and their guests. A winter camp-out for February is being considered by the chiefs of the longhouse.

Football Trip Planned For Gra-Y Clubs

Members of the YMCA's Gra-Y Clubs will have an opportunity this coming Saturday to see Ohio Wesleyan play Mount Union College.

According to the announcement, boys will leave the YMCA by chartered bus at 11:30 a.m. and return at approximately 6:30 p.m. Fathers and older brothers are invited to attend as guests of the Gra-Y clubs.

Reservations must be made by calling the YMCA office at 474-8621 and all fees paid Saturday morning. Boys will have an opportunity to purchase their lunch, or may eat sack lunches from home.

According to the announcement, the trip will be chaperoned by YMCA staff and boys' fathers. All reservations, the announcement said, must be in by 5 p.m. Friday.

Local Woman Is Granted Citizenship

MRS. FRED GARNER

American citizenship is something most of us take for granted. For Trudi E. Garner, it is the realization of a long-awaited dream.

Mrs. Garner, a native of Germany, was presented her citizenship papers Monday in a two hour ceremony at the U.S. District Court in Columbus.

Four children and 4 adults were sworn in with her, including one other German girl.

She has a sister who became a citizen four years ago and was further encouraged when she learned of a local woman two years ago who also completed the requirements.

A resident of the United States for nine years, she has had a hope for quite some time of being able to vote, to really belong and "just be a citizen like my daughter and husband."

Mrs. Garner, her husband Fred and daughter Sylvia live at 904 S. Pickaway St.

Not Expected

While the Congress has remained India's largest party, it has lost ground steadily in recent years, a decline which Mrs. Gandhi blames on the conservative majority in the party leadership and their abandonment of the Socialist principles on which the party was founded.

She and the conservative party leaders—known as "the Syndicate"—moved into open warfare in August when she refused to back the party committee's choice for president of India, Sanjiva Reddy. Mrs. Gandhi backed an independent, V. V. Giri, and Giri won. It was a big boost for her but also left her heavily in debt to Communist and other leftist electors who were an essential element of Giri's victory.

According To Boyle

By DEE WEDEMEYR (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Helmut Kim, who has devoted almost her entire 70 years to helping Ewha University in Korea become one of the world's largest women's universities, doesn't care to see it admit men. She's also not endorsing coed dormitories.

"In Korea if anyone came out with that (coed dorms) we would question the sanity of that person's mind," said the educator who is in this country raising funds.

"There is enough human experience to tell us that close living quarters like dormitories should be separate at the college age level. Living closely between the sexes might also be a distraction."

"We may be wrong but we think some educators are going along with that idea because they have to, because the students are demanding it, not because they want to."

The petite woman, who can trace the entire development of education for Korean women within her own lifetime, said Korea's traditional secondary role for women makes separate education preferable.

Her own mother, she said, was punished when she asked for lessons in reading and writing.

At the time, Dr. Kim began school in 1907, a woman's college did not even exist in Korea. When she entered college, it meant giving up a family arranged marriage.

Now she said, women graduates are finding it easier to combine careers with marriage. College educated women have even become fashionable, she added.

Ewha University was founded in 1886 by an American missionary as a girls school. It opened with one student, became a college in 1910 and now has 8,000 students.

Some men's universities in Korea have admitted women, she said, and occasionally the question of integrating Ewha is raised but never seriously.

In fact, she thinks some of the America which have admitted women may wish they could go back to all men.

Dr. Kim attended Ewha, then earned a bachelors degree at Ohio Wesleyan, a masters at Boston University and a doctorate at Columbia University. She was president of Ewha from 1939 to 1961.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MR. GIRTHMAN had been talking a blue streak throughout a dinner, but his hostess managed to interrupt long enough to inquire, "How about a little more soufflé?"

"Good idea," approved Mr. Girthman, "but only a mouthful, I pray you."

"Norma," said the hostess to her maid, "fill up Mr. Girthman's plate."

In his rollicking autobiography, "Fun While It Lasted," Barnaby Conrad tells a story of a gay young blade in Spain, who spied a beautiful maid named Carmen through the bars of her small window one afternoon.

She was lovely, irresistible, and soon they became sweethearts. But never would she meet him in some other setting, more suitable, perchance, for lovers. Her excuse: her family was too strict.

Finally, however, his insistence was rewarded, and she reluctantly agreed to meet him the next day in the park. And indeed that's where he saw her waiting for him on a bench when he hurried to keep the tryst. She was a midwife! She didn't see him. He stole silently away, and left Spain that very evening.

In a radio audience-participation show in New York recently a Long Island housewife scored the biggest laugh of the day. The M.C. asked her, "How do you feel about Flushing, Long Island?" The housewife answered innocently, "I think it's a wonderful idea."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Why is it so difficult for a patient to borrow his own X-rays from a hospital or from his doctor? Isn't it allowable for a patient to seek an additional medical opinion without need to repeat these expensive X-rays?

Mr. A. Y. Manitoba

Dear Mr. Y.: In most of the United States and Canada it has been legally established that X-ray plates are an intrinsic part of the medical record of a patient in a hospital or in a doctor's office. The interpretation of this legal ruling is, I believe, that a patient pays for the reading and the interpretation of the X-rays but does not own them. So much for the legal aspect of this problem which arises far too often and frequently disturbs the relationship between the patient and his doctor. This firm bond built on years of mutual understanding then becomes permanently altered or even destroyed by unnecessary anger and hostility.

A patient must certainly do have the right to seek an additional opinion. When the doctor requests it from either the physician or the hospital, X-rays and medical records are made available to him. It is astonishing how often these X-rays and records are lost or never returned.

Have scientists been able to account for the reasons why some families have members who live far beyond normal years in good health?

Mrs. G. R., Virginia

Dear Mrs. R.: The process of aging is really not fully understood. Scientists all over the world are engaged in the search that may lead to a better understanding of heart and circulatory diseases, changes of the brain and the slow deterioration of most of the organs of the body that is associated with longevity in most people.

There is no doubt that there are genetic, hereditary tendencies in some families to live long past the normal life expectancy. No completely adequate explanation is available from a hormone, medical, social or psychological point of view.

A relatively new science of Ecology is devoted to the study of environment. It is hoped that new clues from such studies will explain why people in certain African tribes rarely have heart disease and why the absence of noise and pollution encourages longevity.

Nixon Shows 'Backbone'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WASHINGTON — Life can imitate art. Pondering the impact of President Nixon's Vietnam speech, one has the feeling that the national capital is living the plot of one of those Allen Drury novels in which the "liberals," in response to a death wish, try to weaken the nation vis-a-vis the totalitarians, only to be halted in their design by the forthright stand of a canny and patriotic executive.

This is making melodrama of a situation, but there is something in the air that Mr. Drury would applaud. The critics, with dreary accord, have been saying there was nothing new in the Nixon speech. But there was, it was nothing less than a bit of backbone.

Playing a bit more with the Drury parallel, the Nixon analysis and prescription were followed by an anvil chorus of conventionally liberal TV commentators, most of whom did their level best to chop the President up. (Howard K. Smith was a notable and courageous exception.) But the "silent majority" to whom the President had appealed came through. The mail and telegrams were four to one in Nixon's favor, and an early telephone poll supported him on a better than two-to-one basis.

What happened makes me think, perhaps wishfully, that the President will be able to trump the coming November 14-15 "March of Death" demonstrators no matter what they may bring to Washington by way of uproar and the plain massing of bodies. As Ralph de Toledano indicates in his searching new biography of the President, "One Man Alone," Mr. Nixon is actually enjoying an office that had Lyndon Johnson figuratively climbing the White House Oval Room wall. This is another way of saying that the President is engaged in the happy business of proving that his life has consecutiveness and meaning in terms of both his career and his basic character.

Once depicted as subject to panicky reactions when things went against him, Nixon has become the unflappable man.

The yuppies may yell, but they aren't going to break Richard Nixon as they broke Lyndon Johnson. The fact is that our President has shown that he is just as eager as McCarthyite Sam Brown, the first, or October 15, Moratorium organizer, to end the casualties in South Vietnam. But instead of making a naive appeal to the blank wall that is Hanoi, Nixon has adopted the sort of double-track policy that the Soviets have had such success in using when they balance legalistic appeals with various types of activism. There is insurance in this: Nixon is willing to play for a break at the Paris Peace Talks, but meanwhile, if the heirs of Ho remain obdurate, there is the "Vietnamization" policy to pursue. This puts the pressure on Hanoi, and where is the sensible person who will object to that? Nixon is sure he is right, and a man of conviction is not easily swayed.

At the dinner for Britain's Prince Philip, given by the President in the White House, Mr. Nixon's happy inoffensibility was plainly obvious. In the midst of the festivities news came that the Republicans were winning the governors' races in Virginia and New Jersey. Nixon positively beamed; he had put his reputation on the line by campaigning in both states, and, at the very least, his Vietnam speech hadn't hurt the Republicans in either one. Vietnam opponent, John Lindsay's failure to get a clear majority of the vote in New York City didn't hurt Nixon either. Meanwhile, three men who had served the past four Presidents as Secretary of State — Dean Acheson, Dean Rusk, and William Rogers — were in effect telling the diners that when one sits in the White House Oval Room, foreign policy must take on certain contours that cannot be labeled either Republican or Democratic. "I am a member of the loyal opposition," said Rusk "but after listening to last night's speech I must say that I am more loyal than opposition."

In hitting at Nixon, the November 14-15 marchers are aiming at a moving target. By refusing to put specifics — the nuts and bolts sort of thing — into his speech, Mr. Nixon has reserved his trumps. The Maoists and Trotskyites who planned the "March of Death" last July 4 in Cleveland may find in January that the troops are coming back faster from Vietnam than anyone really believes possible. There could even be a satisfactory decision on the draft. But Nixon has preserved his option to move in relation to Hanoi's behavior. If he had tried to make a "new" speech in terms of fixed withdrawal figures and dates, he would have destroyed the possibility of putting any pressure on Hanoi. "Peace" might have been nearer, but only on terms of surrender. The American people haven't yet come to that.

'Fat Albert'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Hey, Hey, Hey—It's Fat Albert" on television tonight, and his advent marks another dimension in the remarkable career of Bill Cosby.

On an NBC special tonight, Cosby will recount the spectacular adventures of his childhood pal, Fat Albert, in animated form. This Cosby has gone from nightclub comedian to television guest performer to dramatic series star—"I Spy"—to comedy series and now animation. Next, feature pictures.

Although he seems to be going in all directions—he also plays Las Vegas and concert dates—Cosby claims he is striving to simplify his career. Earlier this year he divested himself of partners who had established a corporation involved in all kinds of entertainment ventures.

"I've done away with the big office in Beverly Hills, and the branch offices in New York and Amsterdam and Rome," he mused. "I don't need all that. All I want to do is make this television series, and a couple of movies we are committed for, and some specials, including Fat Albert."

"And I'm overseeing these things myself. My biggest mistake in the past was in letting other people do things that pertained to me. It just doesn't work that way. You may think that you're getting a manager, but later you find out that he really wants to be a producer. It's hard to find those who want to continue doing the same work they're hired to do."

Cosby came to this realization last April, when he was scheduled to begin production on his NBC weekly series. He discovered that others were doing things that pertained to him and, he thought, doing them badly. He ended his partnership and took over "The Bill Cosby Show" as executive producer.

His concept of the show: "Chet Kincaid (his character) is first of all a human being. The fact that he makes his living as a schoolteacher is strictly incidental. He could be a truck driver or a garbage collector; it wouldn't matter."

"This is not a show about a school, and some of the segments don't even show him in the classroom. One show we want to stay away from is 'Room 222.' I haven't seen it, and I don't know what it's all about. I hope they are delivering a lot of problems on that show. I'd like them to take care of the problems about schools."

"It's like say, 'Combat' and 'Gomer Pyle.' Both concerned aspects of Army—or Marine—life, but each has a different point of view. Not that I'm comparing myself to Gomer Pyle."

Harold Grenmeyer's 10-piece orchestra was featured at the Sulphur Spring Pavilion dance.

J. W. Johnson, editor of the Democrat and Watchman, gave a graphic description of his sufferings from a recent attack of smallpox at a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Walter Carpenter of Commercial Point fell and broke his nose on the school's gym floor as he prepared to play a game of basketball.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — What's this, the airlines laying off workers? Why, isn't this the same industry with the unlimited prospects, the glamor business with a hold on the future, the wonder business that will transport us into tomorrow?

The same. The problems, however, are with the present. The public image of airlines is a romantic one in which everything looks up, up, up. The private visage is closer to reality and to earth. It's much more glum.

Profits are down and so are stock prices. Business has been disappointing. Planes are being hijacked. People complain more and more about airport noise. The airports are congested. Access roads are clogged. There aren't enough traffic controllers.

And perhaps the biggest problem of all is how to finance those huge new jets that someday might make profits but which now represent an outlay of more than $2 billion a year. Beyond the next few years there is an additional problem of financing supersonic aircraft, and of dealing with the sonic booms that now seem to bar usage on profitable overland routes.

The immediate reason for layoffs by Pan American World Airways and smaller airlines, and much belt tightening by most other lines, is the earnings situation. It's very poor.

In the first three months of this year, the Air Transport Association reports, the scheduled airlines suffered a net loss of $16.2 million. A profit of $67 million was made in the next three months, but preliminary and unofficial figures indicate no real improvement in July-August-September.

In fact, the most profitable years of the industry were in 1966 when operating income reached $453.7 million. Now, with earnings depressed, industry executives are hindered in their financing plans.

Aside from money, the next biggest problem is really a conglomeration of problems associated with congestion. More air controllers are needed at airports, and President Nixon has asked Congress to authorize the hiring of 1,000 additional men. This would be on top of 2,800 already authorized by Congress. But, the money hasn't been appropriated.

On days of restricted visibility, it isn't uncommon at some airports for controllers to stack up incoming flights for an hour or more before giving them clearance to land. Additional controllers might help improve the situation.

Newer and larger airports also would help. Many of the nation's terminals offer beautiful architecture, restaurants and shops, but provide poor loading and unloading facilities.

U.S. To Continue Atomic Material Sale To Britain

LONDON (AP) — The United States will go on selling nuclear materials to Britain for at least another five years if Congress approves the agreement, government sources say.

The sources said the deal is an amendment extending the "materials clauses" of the 1958 British-American defense agreement. It was signed within the last two weeks in Washington.

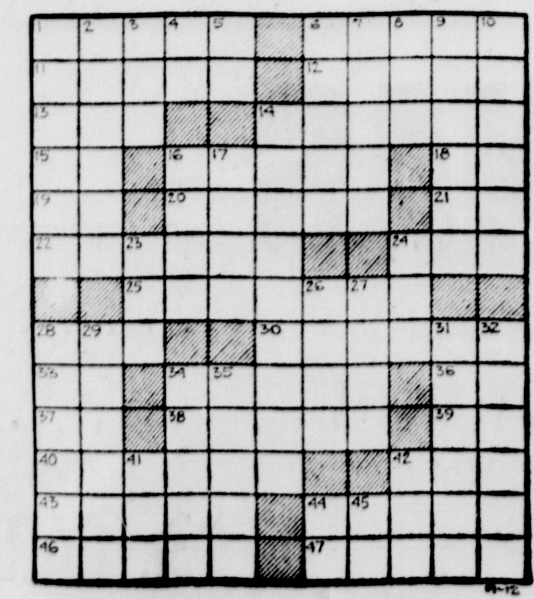

The materials clauses bind the United States to sell Britain nuclear materials needed to make nuclear bombs and warheads and also provides for cooperation in all aspects of nuclear weapon development, including the exchange of know-how and secrets.

The extension implies that President Nixon continues to favor Britain as the only ally rating nuclear arms cooperation, and that Prime Minister Harold Wilson plans to delay even further his pledge to phase out Britain's nuclear weapons.

Richard Gordon Became Aviator, Astronaut By Chance

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Becoming an aviator was an afterthought, a chance thing, for Richard F. Gordon Jr., the command module pilot on the Apollo 12 moon mission scheduled for launching Friday.

As a boy Gordon, a Roman Catholic, dreamed of becoming a priest. As a college student he studied chemistry, but made better grades in literature. And he finally made a firm decision to become a dentist, just as soon as he filled his military obligation.

"I didn't know what I wanted to be," he recalls now.

But his first flight in an airplane settled the issue for the dark-haired, dark-complexioned Seattle native.

He recalls the flight vividly. The day was crystal clear, he said, and perfect for flying when he climbed into the back of the Navy plane as a Naval Reserve cadet.

The airplane angled upward and over the rugged mountains around Seattle and Gordon looked down at the earth from above for the first time.

"I said, 'Man has this been here all this time? I've got to get some more of it.' It was really a spectacular flight," he recounted. "Once I experienced it, I decided that was the only thing I ever wanted to do."

Gordon grew up in modest circumstances at Poulsbo, Wash. He was the oldest of six children. His father was a dairy maintenance worker and his mother taught school.

He was an average student and played football and baseball while in high school. But he spent much of his time indoors, reading.

"I was not much interested in outdoor activities, but I always read almost anything I could get my hands on," he said.

Gordon finished 30th in a class of 63 that was graduated from North Kitsap High School in 1947. His class prophecy was inauspicious: "It could happen to anyone."

He majored in chemistry education at the University of Washington, a course usually taken by future high school chemistry teachers.

Gordon worked his way through school, and enlisted in the Naval Reserve.

He played baseball in college and for a time dreamed of becoming a professional player, but he finally decided on dentistry.

Completion of a four-year obligation to the Navy still came first.

OSU Professor Gets Florida Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Appointment of Dr. Paul G. Craig, 43, of Ohio State University, as vice president for academic affairs at Florida State University in Tallahassee was announced today.

Dr. Craig is currently dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences at Ohio State. He will assume his new post sometime during the winter quarter.

Dr. Craig is native of Middletown, Ohio. He has been OSU dean since Jan. 1, 1968 and a faculty member since 1953.

Gordon was selected as an aviation cadet and took his first flight shortly afterward.

After earning his wings and becoming a naval aviator, Gordon decided he liked the Navy way.

"I really enjoyed flying, the sense of accomplishment," he said. "I realized I would genuinely miss the kind of life I was leading."

In 1957, Gordon became a student test pilot, attending the Navy test pilot school at Patuxent River, Md.

He tested the hottest planes the Navy had to offer and met another enthusiastic pilot, Charles Conrad Jr.

In 1961, Gordon won the Bendix Trophy Race, flying from Los Angeles to New York in two hours, 47 minutes, and reaching a speed of 369.74 miles per hour, both record marks.

The Gordon and Conrad families frequently got together socially at Patuxent River and, later, when they were both stationed at Miramar (Calif.) Naval Air Station. America was just starting to work toward putting men into space, and Gordon and Conrad sometimes discussed going to the moon.

Both applied for the first astronaut class, but the space agency passed them over. Conrad was selected with the second group and Gordon was chosen in 1963 with the third group. In 1966, Gordon was named to the crew of the Gemini 11 mission with his old friend, Conrad, as the commander.

Together they rendezvoused in orbit with an Agena rocket and Gordon twice walked in space, making one trip over to the Agena. Later they rode the rocket of the Agena up to 850 miles, an altitude record that stood until the Apollo 8 moon flight.

The Gemini mission lasted three days and orbited the earth 4 times.

Gordon and Conrad are together again on Apollo 12, with Conrad the commander and Gordon the command module pilot. The third crewman is Alan L. Bean. All three are Navy commanders.

Gordon said he and Conrad have known each other such a long time and worked together so often that their personalities mesh smoothly.

Gordon is married to the former Barbara J. Fields of Seattle, a pretty brunette he met on a golf course where he worked one summer.

They have six children—Carleen, 15; Richard 14; Lawrence, 12; Thomas, 10; James, 9, and Diane, 8.

Gordon has had little spare time in the last two years, but when he's home on weekends, he enjoys putting in the garden around his large home near the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Corn Husk Doll Making Program For Garden Club

Solaqua Garden Club met Friday at the Robtown Parish Hall. President, Mrs. Charles Huston, presided at the business meeting.

Mrs. Earl Wilson conducted devotions. She read the 95th Psalm and a poem, "Homemaker's Prayer."

Mrs. Clyde Herron, chairman of ways and means committee, displayed the 1970 calendar towels for sale by members. Mrs. Boyd Hines, club historian, will purchase a publicity book for the club. Dollar Day assessments were collected.

The regional meeting of the Ohio Assn. of Garden Clubs held recently in Chillicothe was attended by 10 Solaqua Club members.

Mrs. Huston announced the meeting of the Pickaway County Council of Garden Clubs to be held Nov. 21 beginning 1:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Williamsport, with the Deer Creek Garden Club in charge. Members are requested to bring handmade articles for the craft table.

For the program, Mrs. Cecil Ward read an article on "Nature's Extravaganza Of Color" explaining the beauty of fall foliage and why tree leaves have different colors.

Special guest speaker and demonstrator was Miss Frances Decker of Ashville. Her subject was "Corn Husk Dolls." Miss Decker commented as she assembled the dolls that the husks are from regular field corn. She also explained the texture, cutting and dyeing of the husks, adding that the doll heads are made from hickory nuts or walnuts with cornsilk being used for hair.

During the social hour refreshments were served to 18 members and four guests by hostesses Mrs. John Eitel, Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh and Mrs. Wilson. The Lord's Prayer was prayed in unison. Floral arrangements in keeping with the Thanksgiving theme were made by Mrs. Huston. The door prize was won by Mrs. Charles Taes.

Guests were Mrs. Elbert Strickler, Mrs. James Fausnaugh, Miss Ethel Creager and Miss Decker.

The annual Christmas Party and gift exchange will be held at noon Dec. 5 at the Wardell Party Home. Following the dinner members will visit the Brooks-Yates School viewing the holiday display of ceramic items made in the school's workshop.

Veterans Burn Viet Cong Flag

MILWAUKEE (AP) — About 15 veterans, some of them recently returned from Vietnam, marked Veterans Day Tuesday by burning a Viet Cong flag they wrested from members of the Students for a Democratic Society.

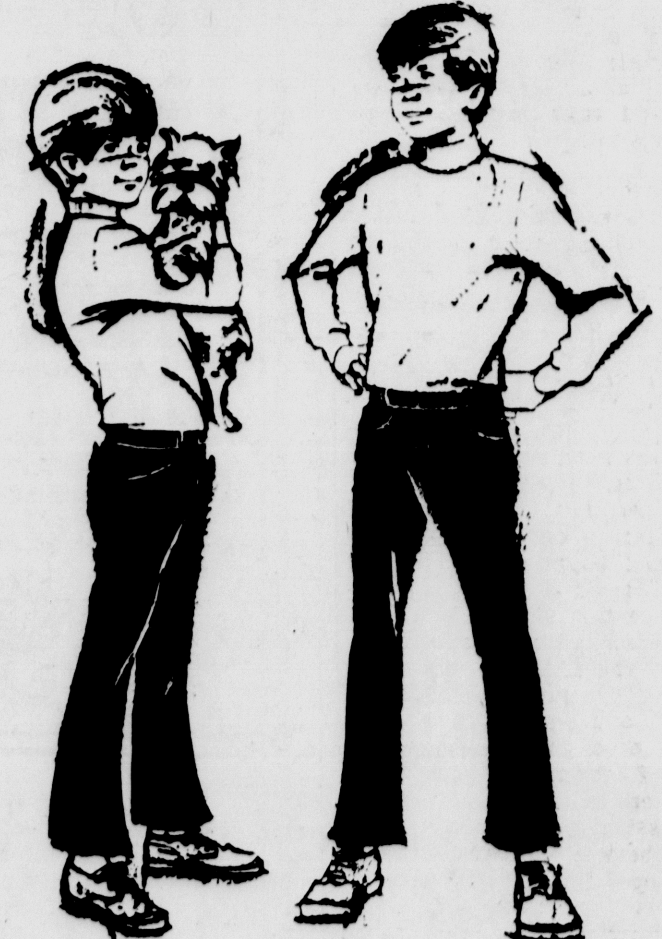

"Last year, we were sitting over in Vietnam, hearing reports about flags being burned. I guess we just decided it was our turn to burn a flag," one of the veterans said.

The Viet Cong banner was seized at a booth being operated by SDS members at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee Student Union. After a brief scuffle, the veterans took the flag to a lawn, soaked it with a flammable fluid and ignited it.

Veterans Affairs Officer Retires

DENVER (AP) — Bill Rice, who estimates he has helped veterans and widows to claim more than $252 million in benefits over the last 21 years, has retired as head of the veterans affairs division of the Colorado Social Services Department.

SECRETARY OF STATE MOONLIGHTS — A. Ludlow Kramer, secretary of state in Washington, is pumping gas and cleaning windshields in Olympia at $2.50 an hour to pay off campaign debts of some $10,000—he lost out for mayor. The secretary of state post pays $15,000 a year, but Kramer, 38, father of four, needs something extra. He plans to moonlight about 50 hours a week.

Kentucky Officials Complain Hijacker Taken From State

CINCINNATI (AP) — David Lawrence Booth, 14, today remained in the custody of Hamilton county officials while Boone county, Ky. officials complained their jurisdiction had been violated Monday when federal authorities turned the would-be hijacker over to Ohio officials.

"The crime was committed in Boone county and the accused person was taken out of the county by out-of-state people," charged Boone County Juvenile Judge Robert Greene.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation turned Booth over to Hamilton county juvenile authorities when the U.S. Attorney's office in Lexington declined to prosecute.

Booth, meanwhile, was charged as an incorrigible in a warrant signed by his father, Norris R. Booth, in Cincinnati. The Norwood youth was convinced to surrender by airport police chief Byron Kinman. Booth had attempted to force the pilot of a Chicago-bound Delta airliner to fly to Sweden. He held a young woman at knife-point.

The incident occurred at Greater Cincinnati Airport, located in Boone county, Ky.

Judge Greene complained that he was not advised of the incident until the youth had been removed.

"I'm not trying to make a big thing of this," he said. "It is just a matter of procedure but this would set a ridiculous precedent."

He said a Kentucky statute requires that the youth come before his court.

In Cincinnati, Hamilton Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin S. Schwartz set a hearing for 2 p. m. Thursday for Booth.

"The matter of the plane incident will not be considered at the hearing," Judge Schwartz said.

"If this court adjudicates the boy we may or may not consider the incident then," he said.

Piketon Youth Wins Prize With Lathe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Deacon, 18-year-old winner of a national machine trade contest, presented his first-prize project Tuesday to Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch.

Deacon, from Piketon, Ohio, spent 175 hours completing his project, a jeweler's lathe, while attending Pike County Joint Vocational School.

The presentation, part of a national conference of the Vocational-Industrial Clubs of America, is intended to emphasize skills to be gained in high school and community college programs of industrial education.

Deacon, who graduated last June, now works as a machinist at the Mobile Hydraulics Division of Parker-Hannisin in Waverly, Ohio.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST
Temperatures will average well below normal Thursday through Monday. Highs will range mostly from the middle 30s to the lower 40s. Lows will be in the 20s. Quite cold through the period with little day-to-day temperature change. Precipitation will average from .25 inch south to .5 inch north melted as snow flurries most days.

6 Children Are Victims Of Blaze

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A fire raged through a 2½-story frame house on the city's East Side early today claiming the lives of six children—two girls and four boys.

The victims, ages 3 through 9, were identified as children of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jackson.

The mother, Shirley, 28, was sleeping on the first floor, firemen said, and managed to escape the fire. She was treated for smoke inhalation and shock at Marymount Hospital.

The father was not at home at the time, firemen said.

Firemen said they were told there were children on the second floor but that the fire was too intense to reach them.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Damage to the home was estimated at $15,000. Firemen said only part of the first floor of the house remained standing.

Grim Task Of Identifying Tet Victims Still Goes On

LE XA TAY, Vietnam (AP) — Under a gnarled tree Mrs. Phan Thi Dan wept quietly for her husband.

Occasionally her hand caressed the green plastic sheet, tied with nylon cord, containing his remains—a few bones, remnants of his clothing and a skull with two prominent gold teeth still intact.

"The Viet Cong? We are of the same race, we have the same hair, we speak the same language," said Mrs. Dan. "But they are without family, without country, without religion. And now we know that they are without humanity."

It was a statement without rancor, even without much outward emotion. Mrs. Dan, a 45-year-old teacher, had known for 21 months that her husband almost certainly was dead, one of more than 3,000 killed by Viet Cong assassination squads during the 1968 Tet battle for Hue.

This week, for the 14th time, she visited a place where grimy workmen laboriously exhumed the bodies and young volunteers meticulously sifted the remains for information that might help identify the victims.

Mrs. Dan was one of perhaps 100 women from Phu Vang district, just southeast of Hue, who have waited and watched for months as bodies were uncovered in places to which the Viet Cong marched their victims, then killed them with bullets and clubs or buried them alive.

"You can tell the old women by their teeth and the young ones by their long hair," she explained.

In the case of men—and the overwhelming number of victims were men—it is much harder.

Sometimes an identification card, a cigarette lighter or some other article bearing a name lies among the bones. More often, the only hope is dental work, the shreds of clothing or just the intuition of a wife or mother.

Mrs. Dan's husband, a 50-year-old government civil servant, Ton That Lang, was one of 150 people in his village who were rounded up and marched away by the Viet Cong on the fourth day of the Tet battle. She does not know, even now, why he was picked.

A total of 104 more bodies have been found in several gravesites within the past week.

The bodies are loaded aboard a motor sampan and taken two miles to Phu Thu district headquarters. They are laid out on the ground, and the list of available clues to the identity of each numbered cadaver is read over a loudspeaker.

Scores of persons, mostly the women of Phu Vang, press around the plastic-sheeted bodies and poke through the bones and clothes in hopes of finding evidence of their missing men. Few succeed.

City Has 2 Mayors

MARLBORO, N.J. (AP) — Two men claim to be mayor of this rural New Jersey shore community and both have taken the oath of office.

Republican Walter C. Grubb, appointed mayor by the borough council after the death of Charles T. McCue April 27, says he is mayor until Jan. 1, 1970.

But Democrat Morton Salkind, who defeated Grubb in last week's election, says he should take over immediately. Grubb was sworn in last spring. Salkind says his oath, administered last week by Democratic Councilman-elect Lawrence F. Grossman, is recognized as legal by Monmouth County officials.

However, Grubb is answering the phone in the mayor's office.

Cooler Air Ends Fog In Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool weather spread across the Midwest today and broke a siege of fog which has shrouded much of the nation's Northeastern quarter for nearly a week.

The fog dissolved into showers along a cold front that stretched from the lower Mississippi Valley to the eastern Great Lakes region.

The drop in temperatures was not severe, but a new outbreak of arctic cold far to the West brought wintry weather warnings to portions of three states.

Snow, wind and falling temperatures were forecast for much of Montana. Travelers were alerted to the possibility of similar conditions developing in Wyoming and western Nebraska tonight and Thursday.

Overnight rains fell over the East but generally were light. Heavier amounts ranged into parts of the Southeast. An inch or more soaked northern Alabama areas.

Passage of the cool front triggered occasionally heavy thunderstorms in sections of the South late Tuesday. Hailstones the size of eggs covered the ground at Sparkman, in southwestern Arkansas, after one such storm.

Fair and generally mild weather continued in most of the region from the southern plains through the Southwest. Rain dampened parts of the Pacific Northwest.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at Jamestown, N.D., to 75 at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Neil Armstrong Plane Delayed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Bad weather on the East Coast has delayed the arrival of the 1946 airplane in which moon-walking astronaut Neil Armstrong learned to fly.

The single-engine, two-seater, purchased by the Ohio Historical Society from Albert E. Manning of Billerica, Mass., for $2,000, was to arrive here today, but bad weather delayed its departure from Tewksbury, Mass.

The airplane will be put on display in a museum to be constructed here in honor of Armstrong, who grew up in this western Ohio town.

Scholarships Are Set Up By Dead GI

STUART, Fla. (AP) — A young Marine killed in Vietnam has left $2,500 of his GI insurance to his high school for two scholarships and a plaque dedicated to the school's war dead.

The plaque will bear the famous last words of Nathan Hale: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

The Marine, Charles Tyson, 18, also bequeathed to the school the American flag removed from his coffin just before his body was lowered into a grave in Fernwood Cemetery.

The bequests were made in a will the young Marine drafted after telling his father in a last letter home that he had a premonition of death.

His father, Leonard Tyson, fought back tears as he told pupils of Martin County High School about the will at a special assembly Monday.

"He was proud of the Marines and loved his school," his father said. "He believed that whatever his country did was right."

Young Tyson left two $1,000 scholarships to be awarded to a boy and girl in the 1970 graduating class.

He also left $500 for the plaque, to be designed by the school's art department, bearing Hale's words.

State Patrol 36 Years Old

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Next Saturday the Ohio Highway Patrol will mark its 36th anniversary.

It was on Nov. 15, 1933, that 60 officers trained at Camp Perry under Col. Lynn Black, the first superintendent, dispersed to newly acquired posts throughout the state.

Six superintendents have commanded the Patrol during its 36 years, from Col. Black through Col. George Mingle, Col. Fred Moritz, Col. Scott B. Radcliff, Col. Anson B. Cook to the present commander, Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte.

The Patrol now numbers 954 officers. More are being trained at the Patrol Academy and the strength of the organization is expected to reach 1045 officers by July 1, 1970.

Some 126 retired officers and 11 retired communications officers will return Friday night to join active members of the Patrol for an anniversary celebration and reunion at the Stoney Creek Country Club near suburban Reynoldsburg.

Brazilian Security Police Fight Priestly Subversives

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Terrorists in cassocks and priestly subversives are the latest targets of Brazil's security police.

Police informants say archbishops, bishops and other high church officials have been alerted by government security units that a growing number of Roman Catholic priests, friars and seminary students are participating in terrorism and other activities against the military government.

Authorities believe churchmen have helped terrorists cross the Brazilian borders into Uruguay, Paraguay and Argentina. Others have acted as legmen and liaison officers between various terrorist groups, and some turn out antigovernment literature.

Police in Sao Paulo have confirmed that a number of priests and friars were arrested in connection with the terrorist movement led by Communist leader Carlos Marighela, 58. He was killed in a gun battle in Sao Paulo last week after two Dominican friars, arrested previously, cooperated with police and lured him into an ambush. Marighela's heir apparent, Joaquim Camara Ferreira, is believed to have escaped into Uruguay with the aid of a seminary student, Carlos Alberto Christo, also known as "Frei Beto."

The newspaper O Estado de Sao Paulo reported that security police raided the Christo Rei Seminary near Porto Alegre last week and found Communist literature, newspaper clippings on terrorist activities and a radio transmitter in Christo's lodgings.

Church authorities have refused to comment on such raids against church property. They also are keeping mum about the role of men of the cloth as police informers and decoys in ambushes.

The man behind the crackdown on churchmen is believed to be Vice President Adm. Augusto Rademaker, a hardline right-winger with a legendary hatred of communism. As navy minister before his inauguration Oct. 30, he concentrated the efforts of Brazil's navy security branch almost exclusively against militant leftists, and it was he who suggested the death penalty for subversion.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS played the conflict in Northern Ireland down the middle in its biweekly "60 Minutes" Tuesday night.

Mike Wallace reported conditions and sentiment from the Protestant side while Harry Reasoner did the same thing on the Roman Catholic ground. Neither added much that was new to the story.

Most interesting segment of the program showed a Los Angeles lawyer explaining to a class of UCLA students ways to duck the draft or at least postpone induction. The attorney estimated he had handled some 1,600 draft cases and of these one client was in jail, 12 were drafted—and the rest were still civilians.

It is not evasion, he says, but simply using the loopholes in the law. Many of his clients keep out through exempt occupations while others are found to be suffering from physical disabilities overlooked by draft board doctors.

Student unrest and demonstrations have been the inspiration for numerous television scripts recently and ABC's "Mod Squad" got with it Tuesday night. The young undercover agents went on campus to solve a homicide and got into a student uprising.

The hour had a fresh, contemporary flavor—the young militants vs. the puzzled college personnel and police. This aspect, like a rich icing on a plain cake, concealed the fact that the story was really a routine little cops-and-killers tale.

"Movie of the Week" that followed on the network was one of those good old action stories about a spy who gave up the business but could not get away from his past.

Robert Horton, once of "Wagon Train" was the ex-spy who had hung onto vital papers that both sides wanted. But Sebastian Cabot, playing a stony-hearted spy-master, nearly stole the show.

The ABC censor checking "The Spy Killer" was either napping or extraordinarily permissive. In one scene, our hero and an attractive young woman, definitely not his wife, were discussing the case casually while occupying twin beds in the girl's apartment.

Alexander Board To Try Again On School Levy

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Alexander Board of Education of nearby Albany is going to try again Dec. 9 to get a 10-mill school operating levy approved by voters.

With or without passage, schools are to be closed in the district during the month of December. The district is in western Athens County.

The levy was defeated at last week's general election.

If it loses again, school officials said schools would reopen in January to complete the school term but would be without operating funds for the 1970-71 school year.

Queen Candidate Has Bounteous Physical Assets

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A North Carolina State University junior with measurements of about 40-32-34 has been selected as a finalist in the school's homecoming queen contest.

He is 165-pound David Mark Brown.

Brown and 10 comely coeds were chosen as finalists Monday night by a leadership fraternity. The queen will be chosen for Saturday's game with Houston. Brown says he will dye himself red and wear a red and white "fairy princess" outfit when he rides in the homecoming parade.

Contest rules specify only that entrants be full-time students between the ages of 18 and 24.

Saigon is situated on a loop of the Song Sci Gon, the Saigon River. In the 18th century it was a walled bastion built by Vietnamese overlords from the north. It became a tree-shaded, spacious colonial capital under France's 19th-century empire.

Private Parcel Services Expanding Quickly

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A private parcel system called IPSA, which handles third-class mail at lower cost than the U.S. Post Office, now is operating in 37 cities, making money, and expanding.

On parcel post hauls, the privately operated United Parcel Service is plying streets and highways with 20,000 of its own shiny vehicles and charging less on many intercity deliveries than Uncle Sam.

UPS is awaiting a final government go-ahead to extend its interstate service into nine more states, for a total of 46. It is growing because it claims—many business firms prefer it to the U.S. mails for reliability and predictability of service.

Air freight is a booming entry in the package-hauling industry and may get cheaper as bigger jets come along. Greyhound buses haul bundles as well as people. The venerable REA Express survives and thrives despite the decline of the railroads, and the yellow pages show a longer list each year of competing private local, regional and national express haulers—even though the U.S. parcel post itself is growing.

The private carriers are being watched with keen interest by supporters of President Nixon's proposal to reorganize the postal system into a business-type corporation.

That plan was blocked for this session by a 13 to 13 deadlock in the House Post Office Committee, but will return with greater urgency next year. Still pending, meantime, is a proposed postal rate increase to help avert a $1 billion postal deficit. "We'll all be under one big corporation some day," predicts C. Wallace McPherson of Oklahoma City, an executive of the Independent Postal System of America, called IPSA.

What is IPSA? It is a company established 18 months ago in Oklahoma City which employs uniformed, bonded, full-time carriers to deliver third class matter—advertising, or so-called "junk mail"—at a cost below the Post Office third-class rate.

The U.S. Post Office charges $38 per 1,000 for mailings of up to 250,000 such pieces a year, and $40 for each additional thousand. IPSA charges $33 per 1,000 for the saturation-type mailings.

Since it is forbidden by law to use residential mailboxes, IPSA hangs its deliveries on door-knobs in plastic bags. It pays the cost of the bags by selling advertising on them.

School children boarding buses in Oklahoma City are likely to be carrying their pencils and erasers in IPSA bags.

IPSA has franchised operators operation in St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., Buffalo, N.Y., Jackson, Miss., Little Rock, Ark., Toledo, Ohio, Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas, and some 30 other cities and towns. It has openings scheduled before the end of this year in Des Moines, Iowa, Phoenix, Ariz., Houston, Texas, and elsewhere.

The U.S. Post Office scoffs at IPSA as being a mere distributor of handbills. "A very, very insignificant matter," said one Post Office spokesman.

Another department official commented: "Considering the shortage of labor, I frankly don't think it is going to be around too long." Postal union leaders have attacked IPSA on grounds that only the government can legally carry mail, and have denounced the wearing of official-looking uniforms by IPSA's delivery men. To such belittling IPSA replies that it has in hand applications for franchises from about 2,000 more towns and cities. And that it is now prepared—in Oklahoma City only, so far—to deliver addressed mail on a selective list basis.

Dear Abby:

Says Wife Starts Work Too Early!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to Margie for seven months, and there is one thing we argue about constantly. Margie is the secretary for a bachelor, and he has asked her to TELEPHONE him every morning at 7 o'clock to wake him up! (He doesn't trust an alarm clock.)

I say that my wife isn't supposed to report for "work" until 8:30 a.m. and her employer has no right to expect her to call him at 7 a.m., as she is not "on duty" then.

Margie says she doesn't mind calling him, and that I am making a big deal out of nothing. I say, my wife belongs to ME at seven in the morning and I don't want her worrying about having to wake up her boss.

I would like your opinion. Also the opinion of your readers.

MARGIE'S IRATE HUSBAND
DEAR HUSBAND: I don't see any harm in Margie's calling her boss to wake him up, but if YOU do, then out of consideration for you, she should tell her boss to get somebody else to wake him up. (And by the way, if he doesn't trust an alarm clock, how about a rooster?)

DEAR ABBY: I have read in your column many letters from the family of the bride resenting bitterly the family of the groom paying off their social obligations by inviting all their shirt-tail relatives, friends, neighbors, and business acquaintances to a wedding since it's paid for by the bride's parents.

I recently returned from the Orient where I attended a wedding, and was informed of their solution to the wedding guest problem. Each family invites as many guests as they wish and each family PAYS for his own guests. Clever?

A READER
DEAR ABBY: People keep writing in to say they can't stand the smell of tobacco, or garlic, or onions. Well, there are worse smells as far as I'm concerned.

I can't stand closer than 3 feet from my mother-in-law without becoming nauseated because she uses a heavy gardenia perfume which practically knocks me out.

And those "air fresheners" that smell like pine and orange blossoms gag me.

It takes me a full hour of fresh air to get back to normal after dancing with one of my husband's clients who uses a popular men's fragrance that smells like jasmine!

I am about to give my favorite wrap to the GOODWILL because my niece borrowed it and in spite of numerous airings I can still smell the perfume she must have bathed in before wearing it.

Maybe I'm a weirdo, but I'll take the smell of tobacco, garlic, or onions to some of those fancy exotic "fragrances" any day.

STINKY IN FORT WORTH
DEAR ABBY: Of course that 54-year-old man should not when he goes to St. Louis on frequent business trips) stay with the cute 24-year-old stewardess who's married to his nephew who's out of town a lot. That's ridiculous! Can you send me her address??

MAN, AGE 27

Fear Error In Death

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Richmond, Union County, family, believing there may be a case of mistaken identity, has refused to accept the body of a Vietnam war casualty.

A scheduled Sunday funeral for Sgt. John A. Warren, 26, of Richmond, has been postponed indefinitely, a spokesman for the Army at Ft. Knox, Ky., said.

Roy Warren, father of the Army sergeant, declined comment other than to say the family does not believe the body is that of his only child. The sergeant's mother, Edith, also declined comment.

Among factors leading to the family's belief the body is not that of their son, said State Rep. Lloyd G. Kerns of Raymond, who is acting as a spokesman for the Warren family, is that Warren had a large scar on his arm from an accident earlier in life. The corpse has no such scar, Kerns said.

Independent Safety Tests Show 1 Out Of 9 Autos Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has given the public its first look at files showing new automobiles have failed an average of one in nine independent safety tests.

A portion of 800 reports on performance of 1968 and 1969 American and foreign automobiles in six standard safety tests was released Monday by the Department of Transportation.

The department has promised, under heavy pressure from consumer champions in Congress, to bare the rest of the reports, a few at a time, during the next 30 days.

Summarizing the 800 reports, the department said the failure rate of the cars was 11.5 per cent, or one in nine. Tests of individual automobile components showed a failure rate of 10.1 per cent, or one in 10.

The tests, conducted by independent research firms under contract to the government between May 1968 and this September, turned up in individual vehicles defects in brake systems, unsafe tires and wheel rims, weak safety belts and safety belt anchors that came loose under pressure.

Dr. Robert Brenner, acting director of the department's National Highway Safety Bureau, warned against drawing drastic conclusions on the basis of the reports.

"We emphasize that each of these are initial test results, and that a pass rating is no more of an indication that all such vehicles are in conformity with the standards being attested, any more than one test failure is proof that it is not in conformity."

When reports of a specific defect are checked back with the automobile manufacturer, Brenner said, they often are found to be in compliance with federal safety standards.

In three years the bureau has brought action against only two tire manufacturers and the maker of the Fiat auto for alleged safety violations.

Uniroyal Inc. was served notice last week that three of its tire brands are suspected of non-compliance. Some 80 investigations are in progress, Brenner said.

Most Ohio Sheriffs Agree: Jail Conditions Are Terrible

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Most county jails in Ohio "are antiquated, dirty, crowded, poorly equipped and lack good lighting," says the president of the Buckeye Sheriffs Association.

"Most people have the attitude," said president Donald Thompson, also sheriff at Fayette County, "that jails are for criminals and it doesn't matter what conditions they live in." Thompson said the men who run the jails don't agree.

In a state-wide survey by The Associated Press, sheriffs complained most of a lack of funds and of public apathy to the problems of county jails. They also complained of a lack of facilities to separate youthful and first-time offenders from hardened criminals.

Some counties in Ohio have good jails. Recently built facilities and new ones being built promise healthy conditions, efficient security systems, no crowding and

Seale May Again Be Own Lawyer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther leader Bobby Seale says he might act as his own attorney again at his retrial on conspiracy charges in Chicago even though his lawyer is now well and able to defend him.

"There's a point to be made," Seale told newsmen at San Francisco's Hall of Justice. "I might try to defend myself to make an example of what a black man is up against with the power structure."

Seale was flown from Chicago Monday by commercial airliner under guard of three black federal marshals to await extradition on a Connecticut murder conspiracy indictment.

He was sentenced last week to four years in prison for contempt of court by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Julius Hoffman, who had earlier ordered him bound and gagged for his outbursts while trying to act as his own attorney in the conspiracy trial of Seale and seven others.

The judge declared a mistrial for Seale and set retrial for April 23. Trial of the other seven charged with conspiring to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention continues.

Charles Garry, the white attorney who could not defend Seale because of an operation, met him at the jail with a warm embrace and a Black Panther handshake and said:

"Whatever he wants to do, I will assist him. All a lawyer does is assist anyway."

OK Application On Trunk Sewers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Water and Sewer Rotary Commission approved Monday an application for $2,372,000 to build trunk sewer lines for industrial and commercial use in southwestern Ohio.

The district consists of 2,600 acres in Hamilton County, 2,800 acres in Warren County and 450 acres in Butler County. The money will be repaid in 20 years by assessments on firms that tap on to the system.

adequate facilities to separate suspected felons from minor offenders.

Examples of these can be found in Stark, Montgomery, Mahoning, Jefferson, Trumbull, Columbiana, Greene and Richland counties.

Lorain County commissioners are committed to a new courthouse-jail complex to replace the one built in 1893. It was constructed to hold 58 persons, but has had to hold up to 100 inmates at one time.

Almost half of Ohio's county jails were built in the last century out of necessity. With a rising population and crime rate the need continued, but sheriffs feel voters apparently are unwilling to spend money to maintain the law and order so many demand.

"Most sheriffs," said Thompson, "are a little slow to say anything about conditions because the commissioners control their budgets."

Some are vocal, however. Cuyahoga County Sheriff Ralph E. Kreiger says his jail lacks manpower, is overcrowded, and has faulty and limited equipment. The jail, built 39 years ago for a prisoner capacity of 375, now has a population of about 600, Kreiger said. The security staff at the jail, he added, is 50 per cent below normal with 75 deputies working 12 hours a day.

On a smaller scale, similar problems exist at the Pike County Jail. It was built in 1861, has a capacity of 10.

"We have as high as 21 prisoners at one time," said Sheriff Roy E. Ross. And because of a lack of facilities, "we don't have anywhere to keep juveniles and females at the same time."

Besides running the jail, Ross is responsible for law enforcement over a 43-square mile area and works an average of 18 hours a day. He confesses the going is tough.

Over the past 40 years, grand juries in Clark County have recommended the jail at Springfield, almost 100 years old, be replaced. Voters have turned down three bond issues.

Last month a woman prisoner wrote a municipal court judge charging mistreatment by her fellow prisoners:

"I have been beaten...I've been made to drink urine... I was made to crawl and bark like a dog. I was made to stand in the middle of the floor holding a plugged-in extension cord while pitchers of water were thrown on my head. My bed was set afire while I slept. And this is justice?"

Judge Gerald Lorig released five women from the jail because of "anxiety for their safety" and he condemned the building as a "health hazard."

The jail, designed to hold 60-65 prisoners, has contained as many as 117 at one time. The sheriff, county officials and Judge Lorig have met to recommend changes. It would be up to the voters to pay for them.

Nearly every Lawrence County Grand Jury since the turn of the century has recommended either extensive remodeling or replacement of that county's jail.

Sheriff James Howell says the jail, opened when the Civil War began in 1861, is crowded and "worn out" but not unsanitary.

During a jail break three years ago Ironton Police Chief

Eugene Markel and inmate Bill Bailey were killed.

After the breakout, the Ironton Tribune started a campaign for improvements maintaining the deaths were too great a price to pay for an old jail.

County Commissioners say the county cannot afford a new jail and that a jail levy election would be a waste of time because public sentiment would oppose it.

The Hamilton County Jail, built in 1917 for 150 prisoners, was housing 360 persons last week. The jail's history of poor conditions and lack of facilities has been the cause of two riots in recent years and the subject of much public comment — but little relief.

Some sheriffs have proposed the creation of state standards for county jails, with the provision that counties unable to meet the standards be subsidized by the state.

"If the voters won't even give money to their schools to help improve conditions of their children," said one sheriff, "They certainly won't give more money to help conditions for criminals."

"This has always been a problem and I guess it always will be," he said.

Toledo Reports Power Failure

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A broken transmission line blacked out about half of Toledo for nearly three hours Tuesday night.

A spokesman for the Toledo Edison Electric Co. said rain hampered efforts by workmen to correct the trouble.

The power failure to the south and west sections of the city knocked out traffic lights during the height of the evening rush hour, causing massive traffic jams.

No Picket Trouble At Westinghouse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—No picket line trouble was reported Tuesday outside the Columbus Westinghouse plant, where members of Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers went on strike Sunday.

A court injunction limited the number of pickets to three at each of the plant's four gates following violence Monday morning that caused an estimated $15,000 to $20,000 damage to the plant. The union struck over local issues while nationally the IUEW is continuing to work during negotiations.

Eye Pupils Tell Story, Medic Says

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A psychologist says the pupils in a poker player's eyes may tip off the kind of hand he is holding.

The pupils are apertures in the iris which normally expand in dim light or darkness and contract when the light is brighter.

But for an unexplained reason, Dr. Eckard H. Hess told a convention of the American College of Medical Hypnotists Monday, the pupils also grow bigger when the eye beholds something pleasant, like a full house or four of a kind.

And they get smaller when what's on view is a bobtailed flush or a busted straight.

Dr. Hess, of the University of Chicago, said a normal man's pupils may grow to twice their usual size when the eye registers a picture of a nude woman. A hungry person's pupils expand when he sees food.

Unaccountably, a man finds a woman's photograph more attractive if her pupils are dilated than he does if they are normal.

Hess said the pupil reactions seem to provide a kind of window into the brain so that "all the world is able to see it."

He theorized that eye pupil research may help doctors to determine the progress of patients treated for problems such as homosexuality and obesity.

He said the principle already had been applied to determine the effectiveness of an advertising commercial or a new television show.

Airline Fares

May Go Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board says airline fares which went up only a month ago may have to be raised again.

Secor D. Browne told the annual convention of the National Passenger Traffic Association that air transportation still is underpriced even after the latest boost.

He did not indicate when the new fare rise might come or how much it would be.

Administration 'Can Live' With Senate Tax Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — In marked contrast to his reaction when the House produced its tax reform bill more than two months ago, Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy has indicated the Nixon administration can live with the Senate Finance Committee version. Spelling out administration reaction to the committee draft Monday for the first time, Kennedy switched roles from critic to supporter, defending it against complaints that it is too complex, too consumer-oriented and inflationary. He spoke to an oilmen's trade group in Houston.

Treasury officials here declined to say whether they will issue anything resembling the detailed bill of particulars Kennedy and Assistant Secretary Edwin S. Cohen, with President Nixon's approval, produced in response to the House bill in September. But Cohen is expected to spell out further Treasury reaction tonight in a speech at New York, and Kennedy has at least two more major speeches scheduled in the next two weeks.

Kennedy asked the Senate to reconsider only one part of the bill when it gets to the floor for debate: The built-in "revenue shortfall" for 1974-1979, when "we simply cannot foresee today what the revenue needs of the government will be."

And, to add emphasis, he coupled his request with a repetition of an earlier warning that Nixon "has made it crystal clear that although he is dedicated to the cause of tax reform, he will not hesitate to veto the bill if the ultimate revenue shortfall is more than the country can stand." But he did not say the Senate bill—with a maximum cost of $3½ billion in 1974—was excessive.

Kennedy chose the golden anniversary convention of the American Petroleum Institute—the largest oilmen's trade group—for his first major response.

The committee is expected to have the formal draft ready next week.

The secretary flatly told the oilmen that they would have to pay about $400 million more in taxes each year, an amount that "should not unduly curtail efforts to find and develop new petroleum reserves the nation must have."

Approve Grant

For Technical School

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Appalachian Regional Commission has approved an $86,100 grant to assist in the construction of a 1.2 mile access road to the Scioto County Joint Vocational Education and Technical Institute near Portsmouth.

Under terms of the grant, the state will provide $51,900 as its share of the $138,000 project.

Trudeau Escorts Barbra Streisand

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Barbra Streisand had Canada's bachelor prime minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, for a weekend escort to dinner and the theater.

Asked whether a romance was indicated, a Streisand spokesman replied: "I don't know if you could call it dating."

The 48-year-old prime minister dined with Miss Streisand and producer Ray Stark Friday night at a private club and took her to the Polish Lab Theater on Sunday.

The singer and her actor husband, Elliott Gould, are separated.

Juniors Plan Comedy Play At Logan Elm

Guys won't make passes at girls who wear glasses and shy away from intelligent lasses. This is a problem Betty Jo Bolender, as Ginny, faces in the Logan Elm Junior Class play, "Beauty and the Beast," to be presented 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday at the high school auditorium.

The smartest girl on the Junior Quiz Team at a Chicago high school finds her social life very restricted, so when she moved to a small town, Ginny decides to try a new way of life. Pursuing a policy of ignorance, she finds success when she captures the captain of the football team, Beef.

Her success is short-lived, for Beef, portrayed by Grover Dresbach, soon discovers the truth. In a series of attempts to rectify their break, Ginny succeeds in getting Beef suspended from the team just before the biggest football game of the year.

Other members of the cast who share in Ginny's unusual predicament are: John Strawser, Mary Zahard, Janice Kerns and Larry Smith.

Tickets for the production are available from any class member or at the door.

Coal First Mined In 1742 In W. Va.

MADISON, W. Va. (AP) — The first recorded reference to coal in what is now West Virginia, the largest coal-producing state in the nation, was in 1742 when explorer John Peter Salley wrote in his diary that his party had found coal along a small stream near here.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Very cold air covering most of western Canada today was rushing southeastward as Old Man Winter points his finger at Ohio.

Snow flurries appear likely to develop over much of Ohio late tonight and Thursday, but mainly in the northeast portions near Lake Erie, where locally heavy snow squalls may form.

Temperatures tonight are forecast to drop into the 30s and highs on Thursday will be near the 40 degree mark. The outlook for Friday is for even colder weather with snow flurries continuing and the chance of snow squalls northeast.

Highs Tuesday over Ohio ranged from 50 at Youngstown to 61 in the Cincinnati area.

—FORECASTS—

NORTHWEST OHIO — Mostly cloudy and much colder tonight and Thursday with a chance of snow flurries. Lows tonight in the 30s and low 40s. Thursday in the 30s and low 40s.

CENTRAL OHIO — Mostly cloudy and much colder tonight and Thursday with a chance of snow flurries. Lows tonight in the 30s. Highs Thursday in the low 40s.

EAST CENTRAL & SOUTH-EAST OHIO — Cloudy and much colder tonight and Thursday with a chance of snow flurries. Lows tonight in the 30s. Highs Saturday in the 40s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Mostly cloudy and much colder tonight and Thursday. A chance of snow flurries Thursday. Lows tonight in the 30s. Highs Thursday in the 40s.

See Draft Lottery Passage Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate approval of President Nixon's draft lottery proposal appears virtually certain after senators favoring broader reform dropped their fight in the face of an ultimatum from the Armed Services Committee.

Final action on the lottery bill could come within two weeks.

The reform advocates received a pledge of hearings and possible action in 1970 from Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the committee, as they agreed Tuesday to go along with the lottery plan passed by the House.

Even though chances of extensive draft reform this year were ruled out, the subcommittee on administrative practices and procedures continued its draft hearings today by calling Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a leader of the draft reform forces, is presiding over the hearings.

The pledge by Stennis of hearings and possible action next year appeared of doubtful value for two reasons:

—Stennis himself has indicated opposition to many reform proposals such as an all-volunteer army.

Kentucky Reports On Local Jails

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A report by the Kentucky Crime Commission says 64 per cent of the state's 170 local jails either are unfit or obsolete. However, security and food received comparatively good ratings.

—There is no guarantee the House Armed Services Committee will take any action next year.

The current draft law runs until June 30, 1971.

A unanimous Senate Armed Services Committee supported Stennis Monday in opposing any change in the House bill, which merely repeals the one sentence in the 1967 Selective Service Act that bars a lottery if 19-year-olds are drafted first.

President Nixon has said he will order the 19-year-old draft by executive order in January. He also said if Congress fails to permit a lottery he will switch to a similar but more cumbersome system.

The changes are designed to reduce the period in which a young man could be drafted from seven years to one.

EXPECT TO HAVE A BIG FILING IN COLUMBUS — It'll be a battle of the quarterbacks when the undefeated Ohio State Buckeyes and the once-beaten Purdue Boilermakers battle for national supremacy and the Big Ten title in Columbus, O., November 15. And both Rex Kern, the Ohio magician, and Mike Phipps, the Purdue ace, are prime candidates for the Heisman Trophy. Kern, a junior, has accounted for more than 1,200 yards and 14 touchdowns in six games this year. Phipps has totaled 2,066 yards passing and 18 touchdowns in eight games. A senior, he ranks among top passers.

Bucks Over Purdue By 17

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There will be no moratorium on college football Saturday, which is just fine with the bowl people. They'll be watching key games around the country, hoping to entice the best teams money and warm weather can buy when the official invitations go out Monday morning.

Can Purdue knock off top-ranked Ohio State and take a giant step toward the Rose Bowl? Can Michigan refrain from looking past Iowa to Ohio State? Can Tennessee preserve its unbeaten status against a rugged Mississippi eleven on the road?

Hopefully, we have some of the answers. Last week's score was a disappointing 38-18-3-704. Season is 329-129-8-718.

Purdue at Ohio State—What a difference a year makes. Last season, Purdue was No. 1 when the Buckeyes stunned them 13-0. Ohio State has been No. 1 ever since.

"It is difficult to foresee Ohio State being defeated this year," says Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, whose team was clobbered by both. "However, any team with a Mike Phipps leading the attack has an excellent chance to win any football game."

Phipps is the national leader in total offense and only two quarterbacks have passed for more yardage this season.

But the Buckeyes have a secret weapon—defense. They're sixth against rushing and have yielded only 55 points in seven games, a 7.9 average that's second nationally. Purdue has been scored on at a rate of 25 a game.

Having studied the numbers, and flipped a coin, the pick is... P. Pu. Pur... Ohio State.

Michigan at Iowa—Hawkeyes played their best game of the season against Indiana last week, but that's not enough against the aroused Wolverines. Michigan.

Tennessee at Mississippi—Two unbeaten, Georgia and Louisiana State, lost their perfect records against the Rebels at Jackson, Miss. Is another end in sight? No, Tennessee.

Auburn at Georgia—A loss could knock either team out of a bowl bid. Georgia.

Air Force at Stanford—Flyboys run afoul of guided missiles put aloft by Jim Plunkett, Stanford.

Nebraska at Kansas State—Huskers got well with four victories at home. No more get well cards this year. Kansas State.

Texas Christian at Texas—Second-ranked Longhorns will be listening for the Ohio State score... and rolling it up on the Horned Frogs, Texas.

Arkansas at Southern Methodist—Mustangs gave Arkansas fits last year before bowing 35-29. Chuck Hixson is still a great passer but the touchdowns haven't been coming... and the Porkers have only allowed 6.6 points a game, best in the land, Arkansas.

Maryland at Penn State—If the Nittany Lions win, their 27-game unbeaten string will be the longest since Oklahoma went 48 games (47 wins, one tie) without losing from 1953-57. Penn State.

Southern California at Washington—Huskies remain winless. Southern Cal.

UCLA at Oregon—Bruins bury the Ducks... but you can't dig a hole in the Astroturf, UCLA.

Missouri at Iowa State—Tigers smell the Big Eight title. Missouri.

Notre Dame at Georgia Tech—Tech not Ramblin', just Wrecked. Notre Dame.

Stars Stop Chaparrals, 120-117

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles had to travel all the way to the nation's capital for its West Division confrontation with Dallas but the Stars, with some extra effort from Warren Davis, came away with first place.

The Stars, forced into overtime, stopped the stubborn Chaparrals 120-117 in the opener of an American Basketball Association doubleheader at Washington Tuesday night. The home-team Caps nipped New York 102-101 in the only other game scheduled.

Davis hit a bucket with one minute remaining in overtime and Mack Calvin added a free throw for the margin of victory in the Los Angeles triumph, snapping a three-way deadlock for first place and sending the Stars one half game ahead of idle New Orleans and a full game in front of Dallas and Washington.

Davis finished with 20 points while Glen Combs had 27 for the Caps.

Ira Harge's free throw with 16 seconds remaining, broke a 101-101 tie and sent the Caps to their third straight victory. Warren Armstrong had 26 points for Washington while New York's Leverta Tart took game honors with 31.

Knicks Solve SF Warriors; Win, 116-103

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that they're past the crucial spot in their schedule, the New York Knickerbockers can relax again. They don't play San Francisco again until Jan. 7.

The Warriors are the only National Basketball Association team to solve the Knicks this season. And that came way back on Oct. 23. New York has won 10 straight since then, the latest a 116-103 revenge job on the Warriors Tuesday night.

In other NBA games Tuesday, Milwaukee mauled Boston 129-118, Atlanta ripped Philadelphia 124-107, Detroit downed Los Angeles 110-102 and Chicago defeated Seattle 106-100.

The Knicks didn't exactly have a piece of cake against the Warriors. New York was down by 10 after the first period and five at halftime. But the ram-paging Knicks took control in the third period and then won going away.

The victory gave New York a 15-1 record, one short of the all-time best NBA start ever. St. Louis was 16-1 in 1967.

Jeff Mullins of the Warriors led all scorers with 30 points—only six in the second half. Dave DeBusschere and Walt Frazier had 24 each for New York.

Flynn Robinson and Jon McGlocklin shredded Boston's defenses and Lew Alcindor dominated the boards and poured in 28 points as the Bucks beat the Celtics.

Robinson had 31 points and McGlocklin 26 while Alcindor forced the Celtics into foul trouble.

Atlanta, enjoying almost as hot a streak as the Knicks, knocked off Philadelphia with Lou Hudson and Joe Caldwell carrying most of the offensive load.

Hudson had 30 points and Caldwell 27 as the Hawks won their eighth straight and 11th in 14 starts this season. Bill Cunningham had 37 for the 76ers.

Eddie Miles, Terry Dischinger and Jimmy Walker moved Detroit past Los Angeles. Miles and 24 points—16 in the first half when the Pistons jumped out in front.

Jerry West led the Lakers with 42 despite taking 10 stitches when he suffered a cut over his left eye.

Tom Boerwinkle scored 12 points and pulled down 13 rebounds in the final quarter, helping Chicago past Seattle.

Chet Walker of the Bulls led all scorers with 34 points.

When Kathy Whitworth won the Patty Berg Classic at Sutton, Mass., in June it marked her fifth tournament victory of 1969.

All - Scioto Valley Grid Team Named By Coaches

Westfall placed three gridders and Logan Elm two on the All-Scioto Valley Conference football team announced the league coaches today.

BACK-FIELD IN MOTION — A Syracuse cheerleader wins her letter for the Orangemen during game with Arizona at Syracuse—even though she might have been called for back-field in motion.

All three of Westfall's first team selections were named to the defensive squad. They were Greg Bigam, safety; Chris Schein, linebacker and Tim Dewey, tackle. All three are seniors.

Logan Elm's two first team members were both senior ends. Dan Ankrom was picked by the coaches on offense and Byron Sykes on defense.

In addition, Mark Kepton of Logan Elm was named to the honorable mention list as were Marlin Howard and Tom Hawker for Westfall.

THE Scioto Valley coach of the year award went to Mike Shoemaker, who guided Paint Valley to a perfect season this year and the SVL football crown.

John Davis, Unioto, was named the league's most valuable back and Mark Litter, Paint Valley, the most valuable lineman.

Adena and Paint Valley both landed players on five of the 22 berths. Mark Litter of Paint Valley and Chuck Sowers of Adena were the only two named to both the offense and defense. Both are guards-linebackers.

Upper classmen dominated the SVC squad. Seventeen of the positions were filled by seniors.

One sophomore, Dwight Pettiford of Adena was picked by the coaches and four juniors made the elite squad.

OFFENSE
Ends — Dan Ankrom, Senior,

Logan Elm; Jeff Brown, senior, Adena.

Tackles — Bruce Knisley, senior, Paint Valley; Eugene Ferrell, senior, Piketon.

Guards — Mark Litter, senior, Paint Valley; Chuck Sowers, senior, Adena.

Center — Keith Shoemaker, senior, Paint Valley.

Quarterback — Alan Crace, junior, Piketon.

Backs — Bob Cooper, senior, Paint Valley; Dwight Pettiford, sophomore, Adena; John Davis, senior, Unioto.

DEFENSE

Ends — Byron Sykes, senior, Logan Elm; Randy Rider, senior, Piketon.

Tackles — Pat Yeager, senior, Adena; Tim Dewey, senior, Westfall.

Middle Guard — Roger Smith, junior, Piketon.

Linebackers — Mark Litter, senior, Paint Valley; Chris Schein, senior, Westfall; Dave Hutchinson, junior, Unioto; Chuck Sowers, senior, Adena.

Safeties — Greg Bigam, senior, Westfall; Ken Bobbitt, junior, Unioto.

HONORABLE MENTION

Westfall — Marlin Howard, Tom Hawker.

Logan Elm — Mark Kempton, Piketon — Bruce Wickham.

Don Cobb, Dave Waldron, Adena — Ken Hitchens, Dave Bowdle.

Unioto — Larry Brenneman, Paint Valley — John Conpher, Mark Price, John Lloyd.

Sports Awards Given At TV

Teays Valley held their fall athletic banquet Saturday at the high school.

Football awards were presented to the reserves, first year, second year and third year players.

Freshman received their letters and Craig Fleming was picked as most valuable back, Steve Thompson most valuable lineman, and Andre Simms most improved players.

Varsity awards went to Don Stir, outstanding lineman; Bob Tucker, outstanding back; Chuck Frazier and Bob Straight, most improved players; Ron Bell, sportsmanship; and Don Stir, most valuable player.

BOB Smith was picked as most valuable cross country runner.

The Metropolitan League banquet will be held Tuesday in Columbus where an all league team will be selected.

The 1970 USGA Senior Women's amateur golf championship will be played at the Coral Ridge Country Club, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mollenkopf Hopes Purdue Will Be On Upset Trail

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Purdue's Boilermakers will test Ohio State's football supremacy Saturday with a revamped defense, Mike Phipps and all the morale Coach Jack Mollenkopf can muster.

"Ohio State is the greatest team I've seen since I've been in the Big Ten," Mollenkopf told the Chicago Football Writers Tuesday. "They've got the best defense in the country along with a great offense. They've put it all together, which is unusual. But they've got it."

Mollenkopf also is aware that the Buckeyes are rated 17 point favorites in the game and said "If that's all you go by, we'll just push a button and not play. But you can't figure out players' emotions."

The Boilermaker coach obviously was thinking about last year when the shoe was on the other foot. Purdue then was the nation's No. 1 team and favored to whip Ohio State. The final score was Ohio State 13, Purdue 0.

"They gave us a lot of trouble last year," said Mollenkopf "because we had busted routes and we let them get to Mike. Also, we could have been much higher mentally."

"But we'll be up for this one and I'm sure Ohio State will be up, too," said Mollenkopf. "We have great morale and great leadership."

The leadership comes from Phipps who has rewritten the record books at Purdue which boasts such past passing greats as Dale Samuels, Len Dawson and Bob Griese.

"Mike is reading defenses better than ever," said Mollenkopf, who admitted Ohio State has shown vulnerability to the passing game but added "you still have to get the ball across the goal line."

"Our defense has to hold Ohio State within reason and nobody's held them yet this year," he said. "We've changed our defensive alignments from those we used earlier in the season. We tried the pro-type front four but found out it isn't effective against roll out quarterbacks," he added.

Not one of Ohio State's seven victims has a winning record, Purdue, having lost only to

Mike Phipps Hopes For Help From Line Against Bucks

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Suddenly, in the third quarter of last year's Ohio State-Purdue football game, it was goodbye Columbus for Mike Phipps.

The Boilermaker quarterback from Columbus, Ind., left the big stadium in Columbus, Ohio, and entered dreamland thanks to some jarring Ohio State tackling.

"They really messed my lines," recalls Phipps, who on Saturday leads Purdue into Ohio Stadium a third straight year. A crowd of more than 86,000 and a national television audience will be watching.

Phipps enters the game as an underdog for the first time, although he's leading the nation in total offense. The 10th-ranked Boilermakers, 7-1, are right behind unbeaten and top-ranked Ohio State in the Big Ten race.

By engineering a victory over the Buckeyes, Phipps would be a tough man to beat in the voting for the Heisman Trophy. A repeat of last year's experience, however, and he may wind up as second team all-conference quarterback behind Ohio State's Rex Kern.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes said last year that Purdue, ranked No. 1 at the time, had "the most sophisticated passing attack in the nation."

There was nothing sophisticated about the way the Buckeyes stopped it.

"I was hit hard on three straight plays. After that I don't remember much," Phipps said. Phipps, after playing on instinct for a few series, left the game, and the 13-0 score stood up. The young Buckeye team went on from the upset victory to claim the national championship.

The 1967 game is one that Phipps would rather discuss. For one thing, he remembers what happened. He completed 21 of 31 passes for 210 yards, threw two touchdowns and left early in the second half with his team ahead 41-0. The final score was 41-6.

Three weeks later, the Buckeyes recovered and started a winning streak that stands at 21 going into their rubber match with the great quarterback from the other Columbus.

Ohio College Grid Season Nears End

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo owns a football bowl berth but isn't talking about it. Akron would just like to be in that position.

Toledo's current concern is two more victories for a 10-0 record, the only time the Rockets would have gone through a season unbeaten and untied.

The Mid-American Conference title assured Toledo a Tangerine Bowl assignment Dec. 26 in Orlando, Fla., against Davidson, winner of the Southern Conference.

Akron could become the second Ohio team to land a post-season assignment if the Zips score an impressive home victory over Western Kentucky Saturday.

Akron (8-1) is battling East Tennessee State, unbeaten but once tied, for a Grantland Rice Bowl spot Dec. 13 in Baton Rouge, La. The Zips lost to Louisiana Tech 33-13 in the same bowl in 1968.

East Tennessee beat Western Kentucky earlier 16-7. Akron has whipped Eastern Kentucky 28-9, a team that fell to East Tennessee 19-7.

Thoughts of tangerines have not even entered Toledo Coach Frank Lauterbur's mind. He's too concerned about season-closing opponents Dayton and Xavier.

"I'm only talking about the season," Lauterbur admonished, "and not worrying about the bowl."

What's behind the success of the Rockets, who have become a conference power in the last three seasons, winning one title and sharing another?

"Development of a new offensive backfield was the big thing," Lauterbur answered. "Les Ealy, Charlie Cole and Tony Harris, all new, came through."

Ealy is a sophomore quarterback, fullback Cole was ineligible the last two seasons and Harris, a quarterback, switched to tailback.

The interior offensive line of center Lynn Aschliman, guards

Herman Dunwald and Bob Caverly, tackles Ken Wilson and Jim Rance, and tight end Al Baker shared equal billing in the Rockets' conference-leading offense.

"Dayton's probably the most improved club we will face this year," Lauterbur claimed. The Flyers, who visit Toledo Saturday night, have won three of their last four, including a 27-20 win at Villanova last week.

In the final Mid-American game of the year Saturday, Miami can grab third place with a victory at Kent State. Ohio University takes on visiting Cincinnati and Bowling Green goes to West Texas State in non-league play for conference members.

Games of Saturday and Sunday: November 15, 16.

Auerbach Says Royals Bid Silly

BOSTON (AP)—General Manager Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics says he is continuing to talk with Cincinnati officials about a deal which would enable them to activate Bob Cousy, but he calls the latest proposal by the Royals "ridiculous."

Cincinnati's most recent suggestion was a plan by which Cousy would be activated immediately, with a panel of four owners or general managers to meet with National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy after the season to decide what the Royals owe the Celtics for compensation. Boston would choose the panel, and Cousy would not play in games against the Celtics.

Cousy, 41, is the Royals' coach and wants to play again on a part-time basis after being out of the NBA for several years. He is still Boston property as far as playing goes, however, and the teams haven't been able to agree on any deal.

"What they suggested is ridiculous," Auerbach said Tuesday night of the latest proposal.

Auerbach said he had talked with Cincinnati General Manager Joe Axelson during the day and had agreed to get back with him on Thursday.

"We'll see if we can arrive at something satisfactory to both teams," he said. "If we can, we can. If we can't, we can't."

Immunization, Evaluation Set By School Board

A high school accreditation evaluation was the primary topic under discussion at the Circleville School Board meeting Tuesday evening.

High school principal Paul Sarchet and Richard Fisher, local self-evaluation team chairmen, presented information about North Central Evaluation procedures and sought dismissal of school one hour early on Nov. 17 and Dec. 1 for the local group to work with a selected research team. The team consists of administrators of Ohio high schools and colleges accredited by North Central.

Circleville has been a member of the accreditation organization since its origin in the early 1960's, the only high school or college to earn this position. North Central's purpose is to appraise a school's growth within its community and offer constructive criticism in underdeveloped areas.

Fritz Jacobs reported the availability of free vaccine for old-fashioned measles (rubeola) if immunization took place within a short period of time. Students through grade nine in the school system have received survey forms and will be administered the vaccine Thursday. A survey will follow of the high school students, but it has not been recommended that students over the age of 15 receive immunization at this time.

Mrs. Betty Lovenshimer was employed by the board as teacher for the Adult Basic Education Program, under the coordination of Donald Metzler. Patricia Roll and Susan Emmert were approved as substitutes, with a pay rate of $5 per hour of instruction.

The resignation of Ann C. Hall was accepted and a leave of absence granted for Inas Cullums, a non-certificated employee. Mrs. Bernard Wolfe was employed to replace Mrs. Cullums in her absence.

Board members also approved the purchase of a 20 foot steel scaffold for $271.66 from the E. W. Harman Co., Columbus. A request for more bids was asked for the purchase of a D-Iacro Bender for use in the high school metal shop. The item had been requested previously but delayed due to more complete verification of its use and need.

In final board action, members discussed the formation of Citizen Advisory Committees at Silent . . .

Although the day was dedicated to honoring America's warriors of past and present, many citizens who back Nixon's Vietnam policy and oppose the war protests took advantage of the occasion to show their feelings by showing the flag and driving with their car lights on.

In Pensacola, Fla., after a "biggest ever" Veterans Day parade, program chairman Clarence Morrow said: "The silent majority showed their respect for the President, this country and the flag today."

Near a monument honoring World War I dead at Ridge-wood, N.J., five men and a woman camped out in tents overnight and reported collecting more than 400 signatures supporting the U.S. policy in Vietnam. Sponsors called the gesture "a vigil for our flat."

The nation's only surviving five-star general, Omar Bradley, 76, told 1,500 persons in the huge Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum: "If we as a nation lack the belief we are pledged to uphold, then we do not deserve the heritage which is ours. Other generations have kept the faith. It is our turn to keep the faith. This heritage is freedom, with responsibility."

In Milwaukee, Wis., about 15 veterans burned a Viet Cong flag they seized from a booth being operated by the Students For a Democratic Society at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee campus.

Other programs backing U.S. policy were held in:

—Sioux Falls, S.D., where Ed McGaa, a Sioux Indian who flew 110 combat missions over Vietnam, called for a "united effort" behind the President.

—Atlanta, where Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox said those who participate in war protests "betray our boys in battle."

—Jefferson City, Mo., where Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., warned violence is on the agenda for this weekend's war protest in Washington.

—Petersburg, Va., where Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., said the "... most logical way to achieve an early and honorable peace is to support the sincere efforts of the commander-in-chief."

—Miami, Fla., where two airplanes circled the city trailing signs, one of which read: "Peace Yes—Surrender No."

Local Post Office Issues Holiday Mailing Hints

By BETTY DAWLEY
Herald Staff Writer

Christmas thoughts have invaded the post office. Already, the list of do's and don'ts for mailing have been issued to the postal department which in turn issues to the public rules, regulations and suggestions to assure delivery of Christmas mail.

During the holiday season, volume of mail through the Circleville Post Office increases to over 50,000 pieces, three to five times the normal daily amount. The suggestion of all postal officials to "mail early" is well-founded.

Christmas greeting cards require six cents postage whether sealed or unsealed. Unsealed envelopes weighing over one ounce, become third class mail and are treated as such which means they cannot be forwarded. Sealed envelopes of similar weight require additional postage which will be collected at delivery point unless paid at mailing point.

Mailing of all Christmas cards or letters is most efficiently handled if the cards are separated and designated as to "local" or out-of-town delivery. This can be done by the mailer simply by wrapping a string of paper around the packets stating local or otherwise.

RESTRICTIONS for mailing packages and particularly those intended for overseas delivery along with mailing deadlines is noted.

All parcel post packages should be mailed as soon as possible. Anything mailed now to servicemen in Vietnam or Asiatic area should go air mail. There is still time for sending parcels to the European sector by ordinary mail.

Mailing identification and deadline dates are as follows:

SAM — Parcels up to five pounds will go by space available — Oct. 20 — Nov. 22.
PAL — Parcels up to 30 pounds will go space available and require regular postage plus $1 — Oct. 27 — Nov. 29.

AIR MAIL — Dec. 1 - 13. Mail to Alaska and Hawaii should be sent no later than Dec. 1; by air mail, no later than Dec. 15.

POSTAL officials remind persons to package in good, strong boxes and pack well so there is no shifting of items.

Any enclosure in first class mail should be declared and the additional six cents postage paid.

Articles prohibited for mailing include matches, lighter fluid, cigarettes and other tobacco products and coffee.

Most people familiar with sending packages are aware that some APO and FPO addressed parcels require customs tags. For those not familiar with the routine, check with the post office for a form which must be filled out listing a description of contents.

The absolute importance of including zip codes when addressing mail is again stressed. It is the assurance of any mail delivery. Mail is quickly sorted for intended area dispersal through the first three digits of a zip code. The last two digits determine the community. Whereas many hand-written addresses are illegible, penmanship of numbers is normally legible. Therefore, use of zip code is the public's best assurance of mail reaching its destination.

Another important reminder — always, not just during the Christmas season, but always use a return address.

ALL first class mail posted by 5 p.m. leaves the city that day. There are two early morning and one evening pickup and delivery daily at Circleville Post Office. Extra deliveries and pick-ups are added as needed with increased volume.

Eight postal clerks, nine city carriers and four rural routemen serve between 16,000 to 17,000 persons in the Circleville mailing area. They annually play the role of Christmas messenger by dispensing tidings of the season through the mails.

One final reminder by Postmaster Charles Walters is "buy Christmas stamps now to avoid standing in line." They are available singly or in sheets of 50.

If any of the mentioned advice applies to you, the sender — reread it, remember it, do it and have a happy Christmas through the services of the postal department.

Mercedes McCambridge Tells Of Life Of Alcoholism

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Mercedes McCambridge once won an Oscar, but she said her biggest prize in life was her triumph over alcoholism.

She likes to talk about it; wants to bring it out in the open. "The way we treat the whole problem is barbaric," she told an interviewer Tuesday.

"I knew a woman, heiress to a fabulous fortune, who died in a corner suite of one of our best hospitals. She died of alcoholism and malnutrition after her family—in ignorance—overprotected her."

Nice people don't die of booze, said the 51-year-old character actress, "so it's called something else."

Miss McCambridge, who won her Academy Award in 1950 for her role in "All the King's Men," said her life with the bottle was "a kind of hell."

She blames basic insecurity for getting her started.

"I always compared my worst qualities to everyone else's best qualities," she said. "I knew there was a rat race going on inside of me, but I thought everyone else had it made," she said.

"Now, of course, I know that everybody has problems." She said some of her film roles were destructive, too.

"I played the worst haridians, the most hard-bitten women, the absolute heavies, and it just about did me in."

Now she spends much of her time on college campuses, starting in otherwise all-student productions.

Police Probe

Marine Midland Building Aug. 20 and a Grace Line pier in Brooklyn Aug. 9, the spokesman said.

The police spokesman said, "We are not at this time claiming a definite connection with those blasts, but the matter is under investigation."

Letters purporting to be from left-wing radicals took credit for the latest blasts. They were similar in style to letters mailed to news agencies after a bomb ripped through Army and Selective Service System offices in the Federal Building.

Special delivery letters were sent to the New York Times and United Press International, postmarked Monday evening.

They said: "During this week of antiwar protest, we set off explosions in the offices of Chase Manhattan, Standard Oil, and General Motors," because America's giant corporations have fomented international problems.

The three blasts caused heavy property damage and one injury.

Security guards in all three buildings received warnings of the bombs about a half-hour before they went off.

"It appears that the perpetrators didn't want anyone injured," one police official said. "Disruption, annoyance, property damage—that seems to be the point."

The N. Y. State Conservation Department's Luzerne Public Campsite contains a separate area specifically designed for the equestrian. A horse barn, corral and exercise ring are available for the vacationist.
